NO EXTRA SESSION WANTED.

ons May Be Sent Out as in the Peace Commission-Madrid

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] CHICAGO, Nov. 14 .- [Exclusive Dispatch.] The Times-Herald's Washing ton special says that President McKinley has developed his policy toward Porto Rico and the Philippines. There has been much speculation as to the form of government to be given those islands, and the President has been suct, ing the problem with great earn-estness. He has decided to save the country from blunders of hasty action, and will delay final decision for a year. This statement is on the authority of advisers, who gives the following outline of his programme: First-There will be no extra session of Congress next spring, barring grave emergencies Second-The conquered islands will be continued under a strong military Third-All judiciary positions will be administered by army officers.

Fourth-The islands will be kept out of politics as much as possible until the American people have had an opportunity to study them, and national sentiment can crystallize as to the rela-tion they should hold to the United

Fifth-The islands will probably retain their present currency systems, but these may be backed up by decrees which will insure stability.

Sixth-Being in effect military colo nies, the conquered islands will have tariffs of their own, which will be levied on imports from the United States, as well as those from other

Seventh-The United States will collect duties on the imports from the islands the same as though they still belonged to a foreign sovereignty.

The President's programme is based on the ground that the American people are not sufficiently informed about Porto Rico and the Philippines to decide off-hand whether they should be treated as Territories or as colonies somewhat after the British system Many Americans believe the natives of the conquered islands are not suited to be taken into full membership in neld that position at least toward the Filipinos, and his reluctance to take all the Philippines was based on the low civilization of their inhabitants. If the islands are given territorial governments, like those of Arizona and New Mexico, it is feared that some political emergency may force them into the Union as full-fledged States long before they are fitted for statehood.

The President's programme is based on the theory that the coming session onths free from political distraction, and the wave of prosperity may rear its crest without obstruction. If the proposed commissions should be ready report in autumn, the Presiden might call a special session in September or October to take up constructive work before the new Congress con-

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The morning papers comment editorially upon the peace conference crisis and the American naval preparations, relterating their conviction of the hopelessness of Spanish opposition, and recognizing that the United States has practically no alternative, especially after the elections, but complete annexation, and that if Spain continues obstinate the United States must send a fleet to Europe, an action which no power but Great Britain would welcome, though none would be likely to interfere in Spain's behalf.

The Daily Telegraph says: "We can not believe that President McKinley favors a compromise that would leave Spain a portion of her Far Easter possessions. Such a policy would com bine the evils of both alternatives con Delay Regarded as Indication That the Commission, to Satisfy Its Nation's Creditors, Will Force the American Harid, Declare Spain Helpless, but Steadfast, and Await Results.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PARIS, Nov. 14.—[By Atlantic Ca-ble.] It has been decided that there will be no joint session of the Peace Commissions today. Secretary Moore of the United States commiss ceived from Secretary Ojeda of the Spanish commission this morning a note saying that the Spanish commissioners had found it impossible to pre-pare their memorandum for presenta-tion today, and asking if the United States commissioners would be incom states commissioners would be inconvenienced if, owing to the late arrival from Madrid of expected data, the Spaniards should request that the next meeting be deferred until Wednesday. Secretary Moore replied that the American commissioners were quite ready to accommodate the Spaniards in this metter and the tolor secretary. iards in this matter, and the joint ses

Importance is attached to this lay, it being regarded as indicating that the Spanish commissioners are preparing for a final stand in these tions, and it may now be definitely stated that they will not sign a treaty of peace which yields to Spain no more from the Philippine Islands than has thus far been offered or indicated by the Americans. Should the latter announce that the United States is only willing to reimburse Spain for her pacific expenditures in the Philippine Islands, the Spanish commissioners will reply that their mission is finished. Should this occur it is possible the Spaniards will also suggest a suspension of the negotiations through ommission, and a resumption gotiations between Madrid and Wash-

This attitude of the Spaniards is explained by the fact that the member of the Spanish commission have specia alliance and personal responsibility to constituencies and the national creditors of Spain, which restrict them to certain lines, which are as far as the ministry at Madrid cares to go. It is pointed out that if the five Spanish commissioners here sign a treaty yield-ing the Philippine Islands to the United States, without lessening Spain's deb in an appreciable degree, they could not return home with the prospect of any political future before them, and ibly would be in danger of violence on the theory that the coming session of Congress will be too short and busy to permit legislation for a comprehensive system of government for the conquered islands. Appropriation bills and other important measures will absorb most of the time of the outgoing Congress, and constructive work for the new possessions will go over to the next Congress. There is a movement to have the present Congress appoint a commission like that which visited Hawaii. Their missions would be to visit Porto Rico and the Philippines, study the people and their needs, familiarize themselves with special conditions that must be considered, and on their return recommend to Congress forms of government for those islands. It cannot be said the President is urging this movement, but it is believed it will have his approval.

Without a special session of Congress the country will have nine

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES I SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.-[Exclusive Dispatch.] Many star-gazers were out of their beds until long after midnight this morning, awaiting the appearance of the shower of meteor which the scientists had predicted would exceed in brilliancy any such phenomenon in the past third of a cen tury. It was known that the earth was about to traverse a stream of meteors that would be visible in unusual numbers about the time of the rising of the constellation of the Lion. The display was anticipated as something far exceeding what are popularly called November showers, as the earth was in position to encounter the meteoric ing near its densest part.

The expected shower did not come off on schedule time, however, but may take place tomorrow night.

ort Session of Congress Seeded for Passing the Usual Appro-printion Bills, Enacting Sew Laws for the Army and Hawaii,

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Secretary of the Treasury Gage told the Times correspondent to night that it had been definitely decided by the administration not to repeal any part of the war-revenue law for some time. The reason for this decision is that it is impossible to figure with any degree of accuracy what the expenses of the government will be during the next few years.

DINGLEY INTERVIEWED. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 .- The Washington Post will say tomorrow that the war tax will not be abolished at the coming short session of Congress, and that there will be no revision of the tariff whatever. It bases this announcement upon the positive statement made today by Chairman Dingley of the Ways and Means Committee, who, in an interview, says: "The government will need for so time all the revenue produced by war taxes. During the month of October the war expenditures exc the war revenues by some $14,000,000, and this month they will be $10,000,000 in excess. This being the case, the will be no changes, at least this fiscal year. The War Revenue Act will continue in force and unchanged, except perhaps in a few minor administrative features, for at least a year longe "It is hardly necessary to add that there will be no revision of the tariff, although I have seen some statements to the effect that such a revision is contemplated. The session is limited to three months, and that short period will be mainly occupied in passing the appropriation bills, in enacting new laws for the regular army and in deciding upon the legislation necessary for the government of Hawaii. In addition to these important matters, the usual number of routine matters will

THE FORCES MUTINY.

HAVANA, Nov. 13, (via Key West, Fla., Nov. 14.)—The munity of the Orden Publico forces, which for two days threatened the peace of this city, has resulted in the dissolution of that body today, when, after the payment of some arrears and the promise of a full liquidation, the revolting troops laid down their arms. Capt.-Gen. Blanco then ordered all the foot and mounted iments of the Orden Publico to be banded, that organization ceasing to exist from this date. As originally planned, it was intended that the mutiny should have extended to the Guardia Civil and the artillery regients, and it would in that event have

For some time past, the uprising of the troops in consequence of the non-receipt of their pay has been feared. Not only is their pay owing for months, and in some cases for years, but the reserve pay of the soldiers, their savings since the date of enlistment, which were looked upon by them as sacred, has been appropriated or stolen, as the men say, by the government, which now turns a deaf ear to their protests. What amount their reserve pay reaches, it is impossible to estimate, but it is known it aggregates millions. This is what has been precipitating riots, causing mutiny here, impelling the men to insubordination at Neuvitas, and which may yet give rise to further widespread disturbances in the island. The Havana mutiny, which was started yesterday was precipitated by Gen. Arolas, the military Governor of the city, whose fiery temper and brutal trastiment of officers in the started the For some time past, the uprising of the city, whose fiery temper and brutal treatment of officers is the source of daily spreading discontent. At middaily spreading discontent. At mid-night on Wednesday Gen. Arolas, at the head of a battalion of regular in-fantry, having been apprised of the intention of troops to join in the mu-tiny and demand their pay, surprised the artillery outputs tations along artillery outpuost stations along e Vedado road, including the Santa ara and Reina Chorera batteries, dis-med them and placed them under

The next morning (Thursday) the third company of the Orden Publico, numbering about one hundred and fifty men, drew up before the captain-general's palace and demanded their overdue pay. The men were ordered to retire, but refused. Gen. Arolas, who arrived on the scene almost simultaneously, in an excess of rage, lifted his baton of office and savagely attacked some of the on-lookers, seriously hurting a government employé who had rushed out of the palace from curiosity. By this time the Plaza de Armas was filled with wildly excited crowds, who loudly condemned and cursed Gen.

Arolas
Arolas
At that period of the excitement, the Orden Publico, with fixed bayonets, assumed an attitude of deep hostility toword Gen. Arolas, whom the men considered responsible for the disgraceful way in which they had been treated. That moment, Gen. Solano, Capt.-Gen. Blanco's chief of staff, appeared at the palace door and commanded the attention of the men. He addressed them in conciliatory tones, upbraided them for their insubordination, and condemned the ill-advised course they were pursuing. Then, placing himself at their conciliatory tones, upbraided them for their insubordination, and condemned the ill-advised course they were pursuing. Then, placing himself at their head, Gen. Solano himself marched the men back to their quarters, where he again addressed them, promising, them they would be paid Thursday. The day passed quietly without any further incident until dusk.

The mutinous Orden Publico had then learned that Gen. Arolas had called over 4000 regulars in from the suburbs. Believing that Gen. Arolas meant to disarm them, the Orden Publico again left their quarters, each man with 150 rounds of ammunition in his belt, and lined up in the street opposite the armory, ready to offer resistance if necessary. Shortly after nightfall, Gen. Arolas, at the head of the regulars, and preceded by a band of music, playing national airs, arrived hefore the Orden Publico's headquarters, where he halted. Before him stood the mutinous third company, grim and sullen. Turning to the men, Gen. Arolas reminded them that they were regulars and veterans, not mere policemen, as they had been tauntingly referred to. The Orden Publico then gave three cheers for Spain and the army, which were lustily answered. To the disgust of Gen. Arolas, right on the heels of these "vivas," the regulars chaered their comrades, and the Orden Publico answered in turn.

Gen. Arolas, mad with rage, ordered his men to charge, but they refused to obey. He then ordered them to fire, which they also refused to do. Gen. Arolas then realized he had lost his men to charge, but they refused to obey. He then ordered them to fire, which they also refused to do. Gen. Arolas influence over the men. and after calling the officers aside and conferring with them for a few minutes, he left for the palace, accompanied by his staff and seven officers.

About two blocks from the scene of the mutiny, Gen. Arolas's party came upon an innocent and unsuspecting member of the Orden Publico, who was unsurmed. Mad with fury, Gen. Arolas aidedecamp, had his head cut, supposedly by Gen. Arola

Gen. Arolas's sword, as it was the ly one drawn.

Toward II o'clock, Gen. Arolas, who do been informed that further uprises had taken place among other mpanies of the Orden Publico, remed to where he had left the troops, do ordered them away, leaving a sard stationed in the buildings adming and facing the barracks of the dan Publico, who by this time had an persuaded by their own officers withdraw within their quarters.

Toward midnight most of the regimes of the Orden Publico, both cavity and infantry, throughout the city, demutined and turned out, fully med, into the streets. Gen. Arolas, the the regulars, met them at the ideas del Monte, where a repetition the earlier incidents occurred, the opps again refusing to obey orders to when commanded to do so. A congress them took place between the officers and the mutineers disbanded.

At 2 o'clock the following morning, Gen. Arolas ordered the troops to retire to quarters and hold themselves in readiness for an emergency. The palace was heavily guarded all night, and extreme precautions were taken to deal with a possible general revolt. The night, however, passed without any further untoward incident, bringing about today the result before mentioned, namely, the disbanding of the Orden Publico forces.

The city today continues to be parfoiled by regulars, who are quartered in the principal thoroughfares, parks and squares of the city. This uprising, which has been settled on the only possible basis, that of cash, affords a palpable illustration of the condition of affairs here and of the utter demoralization of even the army, where the officers have lost control of the troops. Although the possibility of further uprisings is scouted among the military authorities, there is reason to believe that trouble is anticipated among the Guardia Civile, artillery, and even other regular forces, as proved by the fact that the troops continue to be confined to their quarters, and that the troops continue to be confined to their quarters, and that the city of Havana is practically in a state of siege.

OUTPOSTS WERE RESTLESS.

HAVANA, Nov. 14.—Last night the Guardia Civile outposts stationed at Arroyo Apollo, Jesus Del Monte, Calvario and Managua, on the outskirts of Jinvana, numbering about two hundred men, gave indications of an intention to follow the example of the Orden Publico and come to the captain-general's palace to make a demonstration against the withholding of their pay. The military authorities, as a measure of precaution, sent a battalion of regulars to the barracks, and a similar precaution was taken at the Guardia Civile barracks in Havana, no communiction between the two detachments being allowed.

The United States and Spanish evacuation commissioners will hold a joint session Wednesday morning to determine definitely the limits regarding property which the Spaniards may remove and dispose of. The Alicante, with 900 members of the Orden Publico and 20 officers and 900 sailors of the regular forces, sailed this afternoon.

KEY WEST (Fla.,) Nov. 14.—Private reports from Puerto Principe and Nuevitas, Cuba, say that 7000 regular soldiers mutinied and demanded their pay before embarking for Spain. About four thousand armed soldiers, the report adds, presented themselves in front of the palace, calling on the military Governor, Emilio March, for their overdue pay. Thereupon, Gen. March drew his sword and ordered them to disband. The soldiers, however, refused to obey and some of them, armed with loaded rifles, threatened the life of Gen. March, who returned his sword to its scabbard, crying out: "Do you wish to kill me? Well, kill me."

The soldiers, in reply, shouted: "No! No! We only want our pay before embarking for Spain." Gen. March promised them that they would be paid and the soldiers returned to their quarters peaceably. The steamer Alva left Havana four days ago with $150,000, with which to pay those soldiers who were to embark immediately for Spain.

JUNTA'S HINT. Filipinos Want a Little More Recognition.

HONGKONG, Nov. 14.—[By Asiatic Cable.] The Filipino junta, representatives of Gen. Aguinaldo and the Pilipino government, have drawn up what a they designate "an appeal to President McKinley and the American people," but what is in reality rather in the nature of an arraignment of American actions in the Philippines.

John Barrett, formerly United States Minister to Siam, was asked by the junta to present the memorial to the United States government and people. Mr. Barrett replied that while he could have no official influence regarding the status of the matter, he was satisfied that a document which represented the sentiments of the Filipinos would receive at the hands of Americans all the consideration it merited.

After asserting that the Filipinos uniformly acted upon the advice of Americans and were informally recognized by them until Manila was captured, the memorial goes on to say:

"We can only attribute this sudden change to orders from Washington to American officials at Manila to avoid compromising the American zovern-compromising the American government. The Americans are carrying out these instructions literally; losing sight of the former freindly intercourse and assistance, and of the assurances the American officials gave Aguinaldo, which he communicated to his followers."

The memorial concludes thus: "We await the arbitrament of the Peace Commission with even greater interest than the Americans, because it concerns our language, our happiness and our freedom. In the mean time we shall pray for peace and a perfect understanding with the Americans."

GARCIA AT HAVANA.

Visiting His Mother There-No. Hostile Demonstration.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A dispatch to the Herald from Hawana describes the arrival there of Gen. Calixto Garcia and his fellow-envoys en route to Washington on a mission from the Cuban government. They journeyed from Samta Cruz del Sur to Batabano on the south coast by steamer. As the boat neared the wharf at Batabano there was seen a strong battalion of Spanish troops, drawn up as a guard of honor for the reception of the commissioners. The Cubans at first thought that some objection was to be made to Garcia's landing. This, however, was marked by no incident, and he quietly boarded the train at Batabano and at all stations along the route large crowds of spectators TA. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] however, was marked by no incident, and he quietly boarded the train at Batabano and at all stations along the route large crowds of spectators turned out to see the Cuban leader.

With the exception of a few cheers there were no demonstrations until the train stopped at Clenaga, a few miles from Havana. There a committee of officers from Menocal's camp at Marianao, awaited his arrival, and many prominent Cuban residents of Havana were also gathered there. Owing to the disturbance in the city, the Cubans were strongly of the opinion that Garcia should not enter Havana, and it was believed he would leave the train at Clenaga and go from there to Marianao.

Contrary to these expectations, he determined to enter the city, principally with the object of seeing his mother. He left the train at Carlos Tercero, the next station to the terminus at Villa Nueva. There a huge crowd awaited him, and it was with difficulty that he was able to escape, but after considerable delay he was able to reach his carriage and was driven rapidly to the house, where his mother awaited him.

The Cuban delegates at their last session at Santa Cruz del Sur resolved to discharge all men who have been enlisted since August 14, the date of the cessation of hostilities, and to give an indefinite leave of absence to all officers and men desirous of being discharged from the Cuban army, provided that they give their place of residence and sign a pledge to return to the ranks in case they are called upon to do so.

The Assembly has adjourned until the return of its commission from Washington.

SIGNIFICANT FIGURES.

Report of Military Commission After Careful Examination.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Some very interesting figures regarding the re-ceipts and expenditures of the Island of Cuba have been sent to Washington by officers of the Cuban Military Commission, who have made a careful ex-amination of Cuban finances, showing the receipts and expenditures of the island under Spanish rule, and also es-timates of what will occur when the United States takes control of the isl-and.

Among the principal items of receipts in the estimate for the year 1898 are the following: From taxes on real estate, income tax, liquor licenses and other internal revenue taxes, $5,142,500; import and export duties and other incomes from custom-houses, $14,705,000; stamp paper and stamps of all kinds, $1,640,650; from lotteries, $1,900,500; sales of effects of the State, $635,000; from other sources, $1,536,000; making a total of $26,559,650.

The expenses are given as follows:

st. 1940,500; from lotteries, $1,900,500; sales of effects of the State, $635,000; from other sources, $1,536,000; making a total of $26,559,650.

The expenses are given as follows: For the government of the island, under the governor-general, $22,500,808; for the local government (autonomist,) as follows: General obligations, $159,605; departments of grace, justice and government, $1,612,859; department of the treasury, $705,578; department of public instruction, $247,033; department of public works and communication, $1,036,582; department of agriculture, industry and commerce, $108,178, making a total of $26,347,030.

It is estimated that upon the assumption of control of Cuba by the United States, expenses now incurred each year under Spanish sovereignty will cease, namely, civil, military and other pensions, $529,700; the retired list of the army and navy, $1,450,881; interest and amortization of the debts created in 1882, 1886 and 1889, $10,435,183; for expenses of military governor and the permanent military establishment of the fislands, composed of Spanish forces, as well as material for war, $6,108,234; expenses of the naval establishment of the island, $1,100,299; subsidy paid the Compania Transatlantica of Spain, $471,836; salaries of the governor-general and other officials and officers, $500,000, making a total reduction of $26,594,225.

An item of expense for the government of Cuba under the Governor-general is designated for the maintenance of the "guardia civile" who are employed as a police force in the suburban and rural district, which amounts to $2,095,221. Another item under the autonomous government is for the maintenance of the Orden Publico, a police force used in cities and towns, amounting to $565,419. Under the general expense of the State, an item for the maintenance of the Cuba and the subannent is included which amounts to $250,214. These figures are in the case is regarded as of the highest importance, for if Temple is held for trial by the Mexican authorities, it will amount to an admission on the part of the Unted States of the right of Mexico to exercise extra-territorial jurisdiction over American soil.

Substantially the same claim was involved in the celebrated Cutting case, which came near causing a breach of friendly relations, and it arose again in the more recent case of Leonardo Pacheco. Cutting was released by the Mexican government only after trial. Pacheco was released, but not on our demand, and in no case has the Mexican government surrendered its view that it had a right to try a person in Mexico for an offense committed in the United States. Cutting was in jall for several months, and Pacheco for two years. It is not at all probable that any such delay will be permitted in the Temple case, for the Arizona authorities might easily bring the matter to an issue by demanding the extradition of Temple for killing a man in the Temple case, for the Arizona authorities might easily bring the matter to an issue by demanding the extradition of Temple for killing a man within the border of their Territory.

But even accepting the Mexican contention that it could try an American for killing a Mexican in the United States, it seems probable that the State Department can demonstrate that the man, Arlavilla, who was killed by Temple, was not, as his name would imply, a Mexican. The Arizona authorities say that he was born in that Territory, and although his parents were unnaturalized Mexicans, under our law he was a United States citizen. If this fact is established legally, the Mexican government will be put in the Mexican position of trying one American citizen for killing another American citizen on American soil.

Chief Justice Fuller, in announcing the decision, held that Anderson had not been denied constitutional right in not having counsel of his own choice at the trial. The court adjourned for two weeks, and when it reassembles it will announce the bankruptcy rule.

OLIVE PECKER AGAIN. WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.-The An

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The Anderson case has attracted widespread attention, being a sea tragedy of singular romance and atrocity.

The schooner Olive Pecker sailed from Boston, laden with lumber, for a point on the River Platte, Brazil. When 150 miles off the coast of Brazil, Andersen, a Swede, had an altercation with the captain. When the latter retired to the cabin, Andersen followed and shot the captain dead. He then armed himself and went on deck, where, mounted on the forecastle, he terrorized all on board. The mate, who was aloft, called down and, while pleading for his life, was shot four times. Then the crew were ordered to throw the dying mate overboard, and on protesting that he was not dead were assured that he was "dead enough."

This done, the crew were marched below at the point of a pistol and ordered to throw the captain overboard. Then Andersen directed that oil be thrown on the lumber, after which the oilsoaked ship was set afire, and the murderous crew took to the boats. Andersen was apprehended at Bahia, Brazil, and sent north on the United States Court at Norfolk, Va., and a stubborn fight was made up to the Supreme Court, the conviction being confirmed. The last move was in the present application for a writ of habeas corpus, on the ground that Andersen's constitutional rights were invaded when the lower court assigned him counsel instead of giving him counsel of his own choice.

Chief Justice Fuller, in announcing the courts of the court of the precent of the precent of the court of the court of the precent of the court of the cou stead of giving him counsel of his own choice.

Chief Justice Fuller, in announcing the court's opinion, said the records of the case showed that no fundamental rights had been denied Andersen, but that he had been represented from first to last by able counsel. The time when counsel was not present was at a pre-liminary hearing of Andersen, but this was not used in the subsequent trial. The decision of the lower court was affirmed. The effect of this will be to have the execution, which has been stayed until December 9 next, carried out.

The Chief Justice announced that the court would take a recess until the 28th inst., at which time it was hoped the rules in bankruptcy procedure would be announced.

Sir William Marriott took the stand and declared that Mr. Hooley's statement that he had paid the witness £1000 for introducing him (Hooley) to the Cariton Club, was a "pure invention and an abominable lie." Sir William added that he knew nothing at the time about Hooley's alleged donation of £1000 to the Conservative party funds, through the Marquis of Abergavenny, though Hooley told him afterward that he had given the Marquis £10,000 for the fighting funds of the party, which Sir William Marriott explained had nothing to do with the Carlton Club. The witness also said he had helped Hooley in political and financial matters, but had always declined remuneration for his services.

Later, Sir William said, Hooley told him in December, 1896, that he was engaged with an American syndicate, which was going to raise an enormous loan for Cuba, and said he, the witness, had been appointed counsel to the company's commission, which was to visit Cuba, and that his fee was to be £10,000, in view of which Hooley paid him £1000 on account.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NEW YORK, Nov. 15 .- [Exclusive Dispatch.] It is said this morning to have been incorrectly reported that the last American communication to the Spanish Peace Commissioners was of the nature of an ultimatum. The next will be, and the Spaniards are not so ignorant as to be unaware of this. They have therefore considered their future steps, and it may confidently be said that they will not force an imme diate rupture. There will be at least one more meeting, and mean time the Spaniards hope that something will turn up to their advantage in one of several directions whence they imagine help may come. There are indications was wise in abandoning a recourse European intervention, or rather re erving it until a later stage of the game. Not even an attempt will be made to exploit Emperor William's visit to Spain as a demonstration of sympathy. THE LATEST.

The latest announcement is that His Majesty will not set foot on Spanish soil, and that the visit to Spanish waters will be strictly incognite but negotiations by Spain with the continental powers continue, nevertheless, and when the Spanish resistance to the surrender of the Philippines is finally abandoned, the effect of these negotia tions will appear. If Spain should insist upon a provision that the sovereignty of the Philippines should revert to her if the United States relinquished it, it is assumed that Europe ould ntervene with a better grace as an interested party, than if America refused the condition.

RIOS WON'T SIGN. Reports from Madrid multiply tha the Spanish government will yield in the end rather than break off the negotiations. In high Spanish quarters last night, it was said that even were it true that Sagasta is willing to sub mit to the American demands, which is denied, he would find it necessar to send other commissioners to Paris to do his bidding. Señor Montero Rios declares he will never put his name to such a treaty as the United States

The Herald's Washington special says that Chairman Day and his colleagues will present a note to Spanish commissioners Wednesday peremptorily demanding the relinquish ment by Spain of her sovereignty over the Philippines. This note will not be in the form of an ultimatum, nor is it intended to be such, but the admin istration is tired of the Spanish procrastination, and intends that the matter shall be settled promptly. The President is also desirous of completing that portion of his message relating to the Spanish negotiations, in order that it may be ready to be pre-

GARCIA'S SEND-OFF.

Thousands of Cubans visited Marianao to greet Gen. Calixto Garcia, the insurgent leader who is going to Washington. Admiral Sampson sent a message to him by his aide. Gen. Garcia is well satisfied with the result among the Cuban people of his friendly policy toward the United States, and is hopeful of obtaining from President Mc-Kinley the assistance that will lead to a complete disbandment of the Cuban army. According to a dispatch from Washington sent by Señor Quesada, the President is willing to receive Gen. Garcia and the other members of the commission. They will leave on Wednesday by way of Tampa.

GAGE'S CHANGE OF FRONT. Secretary of the Treasury Gage said last night in Washington that from a last night in Washington that from a hostility to the acquisition of territory, he had changed his views, and was no longer opposed to it. A commercial necessity has compelled territorial expansion. A trade outlet to the east is needed. Few at the beginning believed we should acquire more than a port in the Philippines for naval purposes. But the question has broadened, and public sentiment has grown rapidly. "We must continue," said Secretary Gage, "to give the Philippines a form of government. We all agreed from the beginning that we would control absolutely, at least, part of these isi-ands. As the matter was thought out it became more apparent that there would be many complications if we partly governed and partly protected these people, and the possession these people, and the possessions that had come to us through the results of war. The sentiment for expansion is growing stronger all the time. One has only to breathe it in the western prairies like their exhilarating ozone to become more or less affected." His belief was that we must keep the Philippines, and that this is the only solution. As to the indemnity or compensation that is a question he is not ready to discuss DEPEW BELIEVES HE'LL GET IT. It is believed that Chauncey M. Report of the Commissary of Subsis-tence-War Inquiries at Wash-ington-Thousands of Shells for Mare Island.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Lieuten-ant-Commander I. Harris, who was in command of the Spanish cruiser Maria Teresa at the time of her abandonent, has been ordered to proceed from Charleston with the enlisted men for-merly attached to the Teresa to the navy yard, at Norfolk. No additional details were received at the depart-navy yard at Norfolk. No additional details were received at the department today concerning the condition of the Spanish warship.

When the wrecking expedition returns to the United States, with or without the Teresa, an investigation will be instituted to determine the necessity and responsibility for the abandonment of the Teresa off San Salvador.

COMMISSARY'S REPORT.

Supplies For the Troops Have Been Abundant.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT. WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The report of Charles P. Egan, commissary of sub-sistence of the army, has been sub-mitted to the Secretary of War. It shows an expenditure of $6,008,715, with a balance of $20,220,689 to the credit of the bureau. Gen. Egan comes to the Santiago campaign, of which he says:

"A very serious freight blockade at and in the neighborhood of Tampa, in A very serious freight blockade at and in the neighborhood of Tampa, in May and June, 1898, was caused by the celerity with which the troops and their supplies were concentrated at that place in preparation for the invasion of the island of Cuba. This blockade was a matter of grave concern to the subsistence department, and it was only after the most peremptory orders of the commissary-general of subsistence to unload the cars and to hire warehouses, if necessary, that the officers of the department on the spot were enabled with unflagging zeal and untiring energy to so far extricate the department as to permit the taking by the Fifth Army Corps, when it salled on June 14, a supply of rations sufficient to last the command of 16,000 enlisted men for four months, and the sending on June 6, 27 and 28 of further supplies."

After giving in detail what supplies were sent to Cuba, Gen. Egan says:
"It will be thus seen that all diligence was used by the commissary-general of subsistence in placing subsistence stores within reach of the troops operating against Santiago. Upon landing in Cuba, these stores of the expedition were subject to the orders of the general commanding, who was in paramount control of the military operations in that quarter."

After quoting a number of official orders, the general says: "It is evident from the foregoing statements that the subsistence stores shipped for the use of the army in Cuba have been at all times in excess of immediate needs. Besides being available for our own troops, they afforded relief to the Cuban army and to the destitute population which abandoned the city of Santiago when preparations for its destruction had been made. The official returns from Cuba, showing in detail the issues made to these several classes of persons and others contemplated by law, have not yet been received, and there is not in this office any information throwing light on the subject of the Cuban army and to the festivate population brown, they afforded relief to the firth provisioning of the May and June, 1898, was caused by the celerity with which the troops and

Dr. Huidkopfer's Criticism of the Medical Department. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The War Investigation Commission resumed the examination of witnesses today with Dr. R. S. Huldkopfer of the volunteer on the stand. He said he had occupied a position of chief medical office of the First Army Corps at Camp Thomas. Chickamauga Park, until the 23d of July, when he had gone to Porto Rico with Gen. Brooke. Speak there were large quantities of some ar-there were large quantities of some articles and a superabundance of others at the beginning of the history of Camp Thomas, but that this condition of affairs did not long continue. He had immediately undertaken to make regular requisitions so as to equalize them in the various divisions of the command. At one time he had to appeal to Gen. Brooke to get the supplies necessary. the commissionary general insisting on being guided by the supplies on the table, which was not a fair test.

piles necessary. the commissionarygeneral insisting on being guided by the supplies on the table, which was not a fair test.
"Do you know," asked Dr. Connor,
"that there was full supply of medical stores at the depot at Lytle?"
"I know that many articles were lacking," the doctor replied, and added:
"It is not true, as has been stated, that there was a full supply."
He continued by saying that he had made constant representations to the surgeon-general of the shortage of supplies. He had never turned down any requisition from the division hospitals, except on one occasion, when he knew that the articles were not on hand. Also he had refused his sanction to a requisition for flooring for hospital tents when Gen. Brooke had expected to move. He contended that there had been a sufficiency of tentage, saying that no patients had been compelled to lie without covering for any length of time. It was true, however, that there were occasions on which the sick men had been kept for several days at a time under the tent files.
"The second and third division hosseveral days at a time under the tentifiles.

"The second and third division hospitals were always clean and well-ordered." said he. Both institutions were well built, but, they had suffered throughout for proper attendants. There was never a sufficient number of hospital corps men. On the other hand, the first division hospital was not so well conducted, for lack of discipline due to the prospects of removal. He had repeatedly called attention to the lack of nurses, and about the 1st of July there was an increase of hospital corps men in resoonse to his representations, but the supply was never equal to the demand.

Reverting to the question of tentage, Huidkopfer said he knew of his own knowledge that the surplus tentage at the reserve hospital was turned over to the division hospitals, and that tents had not been held there to the detriment of other hospitals. However, he stated that there were always unoccupied tents at the hospital.

In speaking of the camp in general, he said that some of the sinks were excessively filthy. Some of them were never in proper condition.

"Who was responsible for that condition?" asked Dr. Connor.

"The officers of the regiment," responded Dr. Huidkopfer.

"Did not the commanding general have a duty to perform in that connection?"

The reply to this question was not satisfactory, as Dr. Connor insisted upon knowing whether anything had ever been done by the commanding general to secure the punishment of regimental officers who had refused to obey orders for the proper policing of the camps, but Dr. Huidkopfer declared that he knew of no instance of the prosecution of any offense of this kind. Col. Huidkopfer said he had succeeded in getting supplies only by being the first on hand, as the medical depot was run in very parsimonious manner. There was not only a great scarcity of important drugs, guch as quinine and opium, but a disposition on the part of the purveyor not to give out what there was.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

GEN. BRECKINRIDGE.

[ASSOCIATED PIESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Dr. Huidkoofer said that with a few unimportant exceptions the medical supplies for the Porto Rican expedition had been ample. At Newport News he had given orders that the sick men be eliminated from the command, but he found that the order had been evaded and the sick men taken aboard.
Dr. Huidkopfer referred frequently during his testimony to his difficulties in securing nurses. He said he had once secured an approach to the necessary number through an arbitrary order from Gen. Brooke, and when this order was issued the colonel had insisted upon supplying the worst men they had in their regiments for members of the hospital corps. One was an epileptic and one a confirmed drunkard, yet the men who had given him the poorest nurses were generally the first to make complaint of lack of attention. The witness said the sick in Porto Rico had had good attention, contradicting the assertion of Dr. Hartsuff that there had been neglect.

"In fact," the witness added, "Gen.
Brooke would have stopped him if he had attempted to do so."

Maj. Thomas T. Knox, inspectorgeneral, who participated in the early part of the Santiago campaign as a captain of the First Regular Cavalry, said the ship on which his regiment went from Tampa to Santiago was greatly crowded, and that when they landed the men were in poor condition for a campaign. "The worst I ever saw," he said.

This condition was due to the fact that they had been shut up in the hold of the ship for sixteen days, for they had been in good shape when they left Tampa. He said that the medical corps had done as well as could have been expected with the means at command.

Gen. J. C. Breckinridge also appeared before the committee during the GEN. BRECKINRIDGE.

been expected with the means at command.

Gen. J. C. Breckinridge also appeared before the committee during the afternoon session. His testimony dealt largely with Camp Thomas, of which he was in command from the 7th of August until the camp disintegrated. He said that when he assumed charge the camp was at the beginning of an August until the camp disintegrated. He said that when he assumed charge the camp was at the beginning of an epidemic of fever, and that this condition gradually grew worse. He found much that needed remedying from a sanitary, point of view, when he assumed command, but the conditions varied in the numerous regimental camps. He was under the impression that all ordinary efforts had been made by the officers in command to instruct regimental officers in the manner of sanitation, and he thought this instruction had borne fruit.

Gen. Breckinridge expressed the opinion that Chickamauga Park was suitable as a camp site. He was of the opinion that the water could have been awillingness to go off the reservation for it. He had made no recommendation for a water supply after taking command because the soldiers were so infected that he thought the best remedy was to disintegrate the command, and he had made recommendations to this latter effect. In fact, the greater share of his attention had been given to getting the men away from Chickamauga.

Gen. Breckinridge said that he had mand, and he had made recommendations to this latter effect. In fact, the greater share of his attention had been given to getting the men away from Chickamauga.

Gen. Breckinridge said that he had increased the number of men given leave at a time from two to six to a company, because the men seemed depressed, and he thought they needed as much change as possible. He was, he said, aware thát this order had been criticised, "but my theory of discipline is to make a soldler do his duty for all that he is worth, and then let nim have his fun for all he deserves," he said. Gen. Breckinridge said that the condition of all the hospitals at Camp Thomas, except Sternberg, was bad. They were crowded, and there was a lack of skill on the part of the attendants. He also thought the quartermaster's department had been remiss in some of its duties, but he attributed all the trouble to want of experience. There had been a lack of tentage at the hospitals, and he knew of no reason why the tents should not have been supplied, as he was informed that the tents were in the quartermaster's depot.

Dr. Connor made an effort to get Gen. Breckinridge to say where the responsibility rested for the poor conditions in the camp, but the latter said he had never attempted to locate the resonsibility, devoting himself particularly to remedying the evil.

"We all recognized that the conditions were abnormal," he said, "and the question was how to meet it. The point was to get to each man what he needed. This seems simple enough to do. but as a matter of fact, it was not simple. The trouble seemed to be that the hospital attendants were not familiar with their duties and there was not a sufficient number of men in the supply department to follow up the hospital attendants and instruct them." He said that apparently up to his time of arrival the first duty had been conceived to prepare for war. He had changed this by turning the attention of all to taking care of the sick, and if he deserved any credit in his administration, it was for this 20,000 Ordered to Mare Island from Norfolk.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] NORFOLK (Va.,) Nov. 14.-Twenty housand 6-pound shells will be shipped o the Mare Island navy yard Monday. Three freight cars will be required to convey the ammunition across the continent. Orders have been received at the yard to work night and day on the gunboat Princeton, in order that she may as as soon as possible join the squadron which is to assemble in Hampton Roads, of which the cruiser New York is the flagship. The order also stated that work must be pushed on the monitors Puritan and Terror so that they will be available for service at short notice.

The activity indicated by the shipments of ammunition from the Atlantic to the Pacific and the ordering of night work for the first time since the auxiliary fleet was being equipped for service at the beginning of hostilities is significant, say naval men. The ammunition shipment to Mare Island is, in all probability going to Manila, for the American squadron has shot away much of its rapid-fire ammunition. onvey the ammunition across the con

Repairs on them completed, it is expected that within ten days Commodore Philip will have under his hand, efficient force consisting of the battleship and armored cruisers now in commission, except the Iowa and Oregon, which are at Rio Janeiro. These vessels will be kept along the Brazilian coast for another ten days at least, and by that time the authorities say that the policy of Spain with respect to the negotiations will have finally developed.

The armored cruisers New York and Brooklyn are in splendid condition, the battleship Massachusetts will have completed her repairs during the present week, and all construction work on the Indiana will be completed by that time. So far as the Texas is concerned, naval officers say that a short time only will be necessary to repair her propeller. Just as soon as all of the armore clads are ready, they will proceed to Hampton Roads when they will be finished, the New York awaiting them. Here the vessels will remain pending such action as may be pecessary as the result of information received from Paris.

There are eight battleships, and of these the Kearsarge at Newport News had advanced 71 per cent. toward completion, while her sister ship, the Kentucky, has a percentage of 69. The Illinois is 57 per cent., the Alabama at Cramps, 65, and the Wisconsin, at the Union Iron Works, 52 per cent. completed. The sheathed cruiser Albany, which the United States bought on the stocks in England, is exactly half finished. The twenty-two torpedo boats contracted for show percentages of completion ranging from nothing to 99 per cent.

SIGSBEE'S PRIZE.

First Officer to Get Allotment. Restormel's Cargo. [A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Washington says Capt. Sigsbee, who commanded the Maine, will be the first officer of the navy to secure an allotment of prize money on account of the war with Spain. The judge advocate-general of the navy has transmitted to the fourth auditor of the treasury the legal docu-ments in the case of the British col-lier Restormel, which was captured by Capt. Sigsbee when in command of the in the $6500, including the employes of the Amercan line who volunteered for service on the steamer when she was commissioned in the navy.

As Capt. Sigsbee at the time of the capture was acting independently of any superior officer, he will receive the maximum share ever allowed to a commanding officer by the statutes, which is three-twentieths of the net proceeds of the prize, amounting in this instance to $755, the remaining $5520 being divided among all other names borne upon the books of the ship, at the rate of their respective pad. The Restormel being of equal or superior force to the St. Paul, would have been decreed to the United States, but the entire prize would have gone to the St. Paul.

The Navy Department is rapidly completing the adjudication of prize warrants resulting from the war and in a few weeks most of them will be paid. Admiral Sampsom will get one-twentieth of the bounty for Cervera's fieet, and Admiral Schley one-fifth.

Naval Constructor Hobson established such a course a year or more ago at the Naval Academy, but it was not en-

BALTIMORE (Md.,) Nov. 14.-Lieut Herman G. Dressel of the United States navy, committed suicide in the Carrol-ton Hotel today by shooting himself in the head. Dressel, soon after reaching this city, went to the Carrolton, rented a room, and locked the door behind him. Almost immediately thereafter, a pistol shot alarmed the employés of the house, and a search showed that

In one of his pockets was found an order from Secretary Long, detaching Dressel from the Essex, and ordering him to Manila to join the Zafiro. A telegram directed to Lieut. C. M. Fahrs in Washington and signed by Dressel, which was found on the dead man, requested Fahrs to exchange orders with the writer, and it was evidently the intention of Dressel to have sent this. Lieut. Dressel was well known in the pay office and customhouse here. No one could assign any cause except his unwillingness to go to Manila. He is described as a pleasant, cheerful man, with no known troubles.

Dressel was about 40 years old. He entered the navy on September 22, 1876, at Annapolis, having been appointed from Ohio. On May 4, 1896, he was made a lieutenant. During the Spanish-American war he served on board the Puritan. Fullowing the war he was transferred to the Essex, and it is said the transfer to Manila was made on account of his value as an officer, which marked him out for continued active duty.

He imagined that he was in a state of physical and mental collapse, and unfit for further duty. Rest restored him. Mrs. Dressel and her two children boarded at the Maryland Hotel, and left this morning for Washington, where, according to her statement, she was to have met her husband. It is surmised that she hoped to obtain for him a change of orders. Dressel was well known here, having been stationed here before the war

The department officials feel quite blameless in the matter, and the sulcide is attributed to melancholia. A telegram was received from Dresel this morning, in which he asked that his order to the Zafiro at Manila be canceled, and that he be allowed to remain on the Esser. IMPERIAL VISIT.

Dons Wondering if They Can't Turn It to Some Account. [A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.-A special to the Herald from Madrid says nearly all

lier Restormel, which was captured by Capt, Sigsbee when in command of the auxiliary cruiser St. Paul off Santiago, to which port the steamer was bound in an attempt to deliver coal to Cervera's squadron. Had the mission of the Restormel been successful it is not likely that the Spanish vessels would have remained so long as they did in Santiago Harbor, and probably they would have escaped before Admiral Sampson had an opportunity to establish the systematic blockade which eventually resulted in their swift destruction.

Although the Restormel was released by the American prize court, her cargo was declared within the prize statutes, and was appraised at $13,000. According to law half of this amount goes to the government, and the other half to the officers and crew of the vessel making the capture. The Treasury Department is fully prepared to make payments; at once, and within a few days it is; expected that the government checks will be mailed to all aboard the St. Paul who are entitled to participate in the $6500, including the employés of the Amercan line who volunteered for service on the steamer when she was commissioned in the nayy. The more staid portion of the political world does not attach much importance to the imperial visit, and looks upon it as perhaps merely serving to arouse hopes which cannot be realized. It remains, however, at the present moment a matter of political record that there exists a sentiment here that France of late has been of small utility to Spain in spite of her friendship, and perhaps the Philippine clause of the protocol has much to do with the origin of this sentiment. The Queen Regent is credited with a desire to seek assistance from more northern empires, and if true she would now prefer to be allied with the triple alliance, rather than with the Franco-Russian combination.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 14.—[By South American Cable.] Dr. Campos Salles, President-elect of Brazil, will be installed in the Presidential chair tomorrow. In his inaugural address he will eulogize his predecessor, Dr. Prudente Moraes, and declares that, now that the republic is firmly established, the time has arrived to initiate national liberal policy of tolerance, harmonizing the different elements of the country. The bulk of the Address will be devoted to finance, which the new executive will describe as "the chief consideration of the country."

President Campos Salles will say: "The national honor is pledged to execute the financial agreement concluded in London, and to this end this country should not hesitate to make any sacrifice." He will condemn the "particularist policy of excessive decentralization," will promise energetic repression of internal disorders, and will urge "a most careful cultivation of friendly relations abroad, as Brazil needs foreign capital and immigrants."

The vote between the Republican nominee, William Mc-Millan, and the choice of the Silver party has been very close, with McMil-lan in the lead, but returns from out-lying districts have placed Sadler ahead lying districts have placed Sadler ahead by seventeen votes. There are some sixty votes to hear from, but the result cannot be changed.

Ballots were forwarded to the First Nevada Cavairy, now aboard a transport on the way to Manila, and if this vote is declared valid, it may determine the election of Governor. The votes for Comptroller and Attorney-General have also been close, but Sam Davis and W. D. Jones, silver nominees for the respective offices, are now in the lead, and cannot be overtaken. Senator Stewart has more than enough votes in the Legislature to reëlect him.

RETIRING FROM BUSINESS. Tallant Banking Company Trans

fers Its Valuable Assets.

IASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.1 SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.-The Tallant Banking Company, one of the old-est institutions on the Coast, has retired from business and has transferred all of its assets, valued at over $1,000,000, to the Crocker-Woolworth National Bank of this city.

The retirement of the Tallant Bank ing Company from business is due solely to the personal wishes of the stockholders. The Tallant family has scattered, and the members could not give the close personal attention to the business they desired, so they agreed to dispose of their interests altogether. With the business that is transferred goes a large following of shipping and commission firms that have done business with the bank for a great many years. The Tallant Bank was organized in 1850 as a private banking concern, and continued as such for a great many years, but was finally incorporated under the State laws. It has always been in a flourishing financial condition. ing Company from business is due

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Before the Chicago Odontographic Society tonight, Dr. A. C. Hart of San Francisco read an interesting paper on "The Evolution of the decay of teeth," in the course of which he ventilated some rather novel theories. According to his ideas, all dental decay results from bacteria, and the most successful way to minimize their influence on the teeth is to make moisture as inaccessible to them as possible.

moisture as inaccessible to them as possible.

Dr. Hart claimed that there are many kinds of bateria in the mouth, some of which decay and some prevent. In his experience teeth are often proof against decay even when the enamel is destroyed, which he explains by szying that the enamel is much better material for bacteria to work in than is the dentine under it, the latter of which frequently resists decomposition long after being exposed. The doctor advocates the use of antiseptic foods as far as possible, although he, of course, admits that mouths cannot be completely sterilized against germ life.

THE OPEVING

REPUBLICANS REGIN CITY CAM-PAIGN WITH ENTHUSIASM.

Rousing Meetings Held Last Evening in the First and Sixth Wards. Large Attendance.

HEARTY RECEPTION TO EATON.

HIS FORCIBLE ADDRESS UPON THE

John Drain Repudiates Some Campaign Lies-Strong Commenda-tions for the Entire Ticket. Address by W. A. Harris.

The city campaign was opened last night by the Republicans with a vigor and enthusiasm that gives most satis-factory earnest of the result of the election on December 5. Two meetings were held, one in the First and one in the Sixth Ward and both drew out a

The Sixth Ward rally was held at Akey's Hall, which was crowded, about three hundred people being present. As one of the number remarked afterward, "there was plenty of ginger in that meeting." A number of the city candidates were present and the ad-dresses were vigorous and telling and found hearty response from the audi-

Fred Eaton, the Republican nomine for Mayor, was the first speaker of the evening and he was greeted when he stepped upon the stage, with prolonged applause. Mr. Eaton's popularity has been evidenced many times and the reception accorded to him last evening showed that the Republicans of the Sixth Ward were not behindhand in their zeal for his election.

Mr. Eaton's speech was a plain, practical and forcible statement of practical and forcible statement of some of the issues involved in this campaign, and of his own position upon the important questions which most concern the voters of the city. There was no abuse or misrepresentation of his competitor, Mayor Snyder, and no attempt to appeal to anything but the common sense and intelligence of his auditors.

attempt to appeal to anything but the common sense and intelligence of his auditors.

Recognizing the water question as the great issue of the campaign, Mr. Eaton briefly related his own career, first in the employ of the Los Angeles City Water Company and afterward in that of the city. When a boy of 15 he obtained a position in the company's office. He was gradually advanced until finally he became the company's consulting engineer. He became thoroughly versed in all the problems involved in furnishing the city with water and acquired a complete practical knowledge of the water system. In 1886, after tweive years of service with the water company, he was appointed by the Council to the position of City Engineer, his first public office. Three years later he became a candidate for election to the same office, and was elected, despite strong opposition from the water company, which desired another man. Mr. Eaton alluded to his professional experience as a civil engineer and his unusual opportunity for acquainting himself with the matters involved in the present water controversy. He heartily endorsed the platform of the Republican City Convention, and spoke of the necessity of adding to and improving the present water system, issuing bonds to pay for such work, and replacing the small pipes now used by larger ones. While in favor of giving the water company its just rights, he declared that the interests of the public must first be considered.

He spoke also of the need of better irrigation in the Sixth Ward, and suggested his ideas of giving relief. It is Mr. Eaton's plan that the water of the river which now goes to waste can be conserved by pumping it up near the Macy-street bridge. It can then be used for flushing sewers and similar purposes, leaving the ordinary supply entirely available for irrigation and domestic use.

Mr. Eaton spoke of the fact that Mayor Snyder had completely changed entirely available for irrigation and domestic use.

Mr. Eaton spoke of the fact that Mayor Snyder had completely changed his attitude on the water question. Although, when elected, Snyder was in favor of repudiating the city's contract with the company, he afterward completely changed his views. At the time when the Democratic City Central Property of the company completely changed his views. At the time when the Democratic City Central Committee was seeking to extricate itself from its indorsement of the Kessler proposition. Snyder openly declared himself in favor of arbitration. After a year and a half in office he had finally reached the position embodied in the Republican platform. Mr. Eaton said that he had no doubt of Mayor Snyder's honesty of purpose, notwithstanding his change of front. There was frequent applause throughout Mr. Eaton's address, which was a strong presentation of the case. He was followed by Will A. Harris, who has gained a high reputation as a campaign orator. Mr. Harris held the close attention of his audience, and gave a strong indorsement to the Republican strong indorsement to the Republican city ticket.

Walter Haas, the Republican nominee for City Attorney, spoke briefly but vigorously, and won hearty applause.

Frank H. Olmstead, the nominee for City Engineer, followed with one of the best speeches of the evening. He made a great hit, and was enthusiastically applauded again and again. He paid high tribute to Fred Eaton and to others of the Republican nominees, and his address was a strong incentive to united and energetic work for the party's success.

John Drain Street Superintendent to united and energetic work for the party's success.

John Drain. Street Superintendent, made emphatic denial of certain campaign lies that have been circulated about him. It had been asserted that he had entered into a combination with George Pessell, the fusion candidate for Councilman from the Sixth Ward. This story Drain denounced as absolutely false, declaring his earnest desire to see Dr. Edwards, the Republican nominee, elected over Pessell. He also branded as false the assertion that some of the employés in his office had paid money for their appointments. Drain offered to pay $100 in coin to any man who would make affidavit to any such charge.

man who would make affidavit to any such charge.

Dr. Edwards, the Republican nominee for Councilman from the Sixth Ward, was received with applause, and his popularity was evident. He spoke briefly, and urged hearty support for the whole ti-ket.

Charles Udell, the Sixth Ward Rerobards Udell, the Sixth Ward Rerobard of Education, spoke briefly, defining his views upon certain school questions. The audience manifested hearty approval of his remarks.

The last speaker of the evening was Councilman C. H. Toll of the Fifth Ward, who made a strong appeal for united support to the city teket. He touched upon the great importance of the issues involved in the water question, and reviewed the earnest efforts of the Republican Councilmen to bring about municipal ownership. Mr. Toll spoke most highly of the excellent record made by Fred Eaton, and of his earnest efforts to protect the city's rights. Such a man he declared, should be the city's next Mayor.

Mr. Toll commended the administration of John Drain as Street Superintendant, saying that the office had been conducted on business principles. It had been free from the scandals that had disgraced previous incumbents. Mr. Toll strongly urged the duty of reelecting John Drain. He spoke also of the great importance of electing a Republican Councilman from the Sixth Ward, reminding the audience of the consequences of Democratic control in the Council.

This concluded the meeting, which had proved to be of unusual interest, and pervaded by strong Republican enthusiasm. The opinion was freely expressed that the Sixth Ward will give a good Republican majority on December 5.

First Warders Have an Enthusiastic Rally.

If the rousing meeting held by First Ward Republican Club in Ban-quet Hall last evening is an indication of the enthusiastic work they will do during the city campaign, there is nothing to fear as regards the result on December 5. It was the opening on December 5. It was the opening rally of the campaign, and was at-tended by the following candidates: LaFayette Martindale, City Clerk; W. A. White, Tax Collector; Ben E. Ward, Assessor; W. A. Hartwell, tended by the following candidates:

LaFayette Martindale, City Clerk; W.
A. White, Tax Collector; Ben E.
Ward, Assessor; W. A. Hartwell,
Treasurer; Ed Carson, Auditor; W. H.
Pierce, Councilman, and W. J. Washburn, Board of Education.
Chairman James Tibbitts of the ward club first introduced Oscar Lawler, member of the City Central Executive Committee. Mr. Lawler, although a young man, has Republicanism and its benefits to the country.
State and city thoroughly in mind, and is not afraid to "speak out in meeting." He said in part: "The city campaign coming so soon after the State and county fight leaves but little if anything for us to talk about, outside of local issues. These subjects, however, are of vital interest to every citizen of this city, and gives us much to consider before we cast our votes in December. The recent election in its results is very gratifying to each and every Republican, as it not only gives us success in the State and county, but upholds the administration of President McKinley throughout the Union.
In the future these political fights will be between two great parties alone, as it has been seen that in this lies the only hope for our country. This world wasn't made in a day or hour, and so it is with the reforms asked for by these so-called reform parties; they will work out their own salvation in the long run, and will come through the Republican party when they do reach us.

"Coming to local issues, we should deliberate them calmly, as great questions are to come before the people during the next municipal administration. To meet these questions we must have men in office who can meet them and carry them to an-issue beneficial to the city's interest and with fairness toward all. Competent and honest men have been selected by the Republican convention, and when they nominated Fred Eaton for Mayor they put forward a man who has proven himself capable to handle the great water question to come before him, with fairness to both sides. It is in the Council, however,

every time."

The club adjourned to meet at the call of the chair, which will probably be next Friday night, when the new charter will come up for discussion.

Republican Meetings Tonight. Republican Meetings Will be held tonight in the Second and Eighth wards. The Second Ward meeting is to be at West End Hall, and the speakers will, be Fred Eaton, Byron Oliver, Frank Olmstead, John Drain, Ed Carson, La Fayette Martindale and others. The Eighth Ward meeting will be at Painter's Hall, and will be addressed by Walter Haas, Ben E. Ward, Will White and W. A. Hartwell.

SOLDIERS' MOUNMENT FUND. Preparations for the Seventh's Great

Exhibition Drill. Arrangements for the exhibition drill to be given by the Seventh Regiment to raise money for a monument to the members of the command who died while in service and to establish a sick benefit fund, were discussed at a conference yesterday afternoon at the Holenbeck between committees repres ing the Chamber of Commerce and the officers. It was decided to give the drill at Agricultural Park next week, and to charge 25 cents for general admis-sion and 25 cents more for seats in the grand stand.

Tickets may be procured from any member of the regiment, and all the merchants of the city will be asked to assist in disposing of tickets. The entire financial management of the affair will be placed in the hands of the Chamber of Commerce, which will be represented by J. S. Slauson, president of the Chamber of Commerce Committee; H. W. Frank, secretary, and A. B. Cass, treasurer. The general sentiment yesterday was in favor of having the drill Thanksgiving day, but the fact that on that date there would be competition with two fooball games and the theater matinées, may cause a change.

COURT ADJOURNED. Death of the Venerable Justice

Owens of Whittier. Justice M. T. Owens adjourned his court after a session of a few minutes yesterday morning, till Thursday, owing to the death of his father, Justice Samuel Owens of Whittier.

The elder Owens died at Whittier Sunday night at the ripe, age of 84 years and 4 months. He was probably the oldest magistrate in the State, having held the office of Justice of the Peace at Whittier for the last six years. He was a native of Pennsylvania, having practiced law in Armvania, having practiced law in Armstrong county of that State till 1865, when he settled near Waterlool, Blackhawk county, Iowa, where he engaged in farming till 1887, when he removed to Whittler, Cal.

His family consisted of two sons and two daughters. One son, John J. Owens, lives on the old farm in Iowa. The other is Madison T. Owens of the City Justice Court. The daughters are Mrs. Hervey Lindley and Mrs. George H. Lombard.

The funeral will be held from the Methodist Church in Whittier at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

NOB HILL OIL CASE.

Court and Attorneys Size Up the Lay of the Land. The Nob Hill oil-boring case is dragging its slow length along. Yesterday morning Justice Morrison and terday morning Justice Morrison and the attorneys in the case went on an excursion to the disputed ferritory and sized up the lay of the land. When they returned, argument on the legal-ity of the 1600-foot ordinance was re-sumed and continued till the noon re-cess.

An evening session was held at sumed and continued the last state of cess.

An evening session was held, at which Attorney D. K. Trask of counsel for the defense spoke from 7:30 to 9:20 o'clock, citing authorities to show the unconstitutionality of the 1600-600 the ordinance. He maintained that it is unjust because it deprives property-owners of the use of their property.

An adjournment was then taken till Wednesday at 9:30 o'clock, when the effort to impanel a jury to try Skelton and Culver will be resumed. Thus far only seven jurors have been accepted.

is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, bronchitis, asthma, laryngitis, weak lungs, spitting of blood and throat and nasal troubles. Thousands have testified to their recovery under this remedy after they were given up by the doctors, and all hope was gone. Many of these have permitted their experiences, names, addresses and photographs to be printed in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Any sufferer may write to them. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It makes the appetite hearty, the digestion and assimilation perfect, the liver active, the blood pure and rich with the life giving elements of the food and the nerves strong and steady. Acting directly on the lungs, it drives out all impurities and disease germs. It is also a wonderful medicine for all nervous troubles. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

COLORED WONDER BEATS WIN-DLE'S THIRD OF A MILE.

Distance in World's Time on the Board Track at Woodside Park.

URGED QUINTUPLE TO SPEED.

DOWN THE BACK STRETCH.

New York Horseshow Opens-Race at Latonia, Nashville, Lakeside and Other Places-Coast

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.-Maj. Taylor, the crack colored bicyclist, to-day broke another world's record on the board track at Woodside Park. He ode for the third-of-a-mile record of 0:30 1-5, made by Willie Windle at Chillicothe, O., in the fall of 1895, and vas successful in his first attempt. Taylor had quintuple pacing. A strong breeze was blowing down the back

The pace, to all appearances, was per ect, but was not fast enough for the colored wonder, who urged the riders to go faster. The pace set carried him the third of a mile in 0:29 4.5.

NEW YORK HORSE SHOW. Fourteenth Exhibition Onened Madison Square Garden.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] NEW YORK, Nov. 14.-Only fessional horsemen appeared at Madi-son Square Garden today, the opening day of the National Horse Show Association's fourteenth exhibition. Combined with the customary absence of popular interest in the earliest phases of the exhibition, were unfavorable weather conditions. The doors of the garden were opened at 9 o'clock, and from that time until 10:30 o'clock from that time until 10:30 o'clock horses enterad in the several classes were exercised in the ring.

Half an hour later, the jumpers had their preliminary trial. During the afternoon, according to the programme, there was judging of harness, horses, hackney stalls, road horses, pair carriage horses, ponies under saddle, and hunters. The entries are fully up to the average of former years, and the quality, according to the management, is surpassingly excellent. The sales of boxes were good. There are 114 classes to be judged, and the winners will divide $35,000 in prizes. There are many special prizes, and there are, too, a number of cups to go to the winners in some of the classes.

CHARLES THORNTON'S SUICIDE Long Subject to Attacks of Acute

Melaneholia.

Charles H. Thornton, the Los Angeles boy who killed himself in St.
Louis Saturday night, as narrated in The Times yesterday, left California just a week ago in the hope of finding some healpass canning in the Feat street yesterday morning by Officer Randolph for peddling without a license. At the station Sing objected to being searched, and it required the united efforts of three policemen to perform that function. Several $5 gold pieces were found in the Chinaman's pockets, and the police clerk took two of them as bail and released the prisoner, putting the balance to his credit. In the afternoon the Chinaman appeared in Justice Morrison's court and explained that his license had expired on Sunday, and as he was unable to see the license clerk on Saturday, he intended to get it renewed yesterday while on his rounds, but the officer arrested him before he had a chance to attend to the matter. In the mean time he had secured a new license. Justice Morrison fined him $2, but remitted the fine, and Sing resumed his occupation of distributing vegetables. some business opening in the East.
Thornton was 21 years of age. Until two years ago he was an employé of the Simpson & Hack Fruit Company two years ago he was an employe of the Simpson & Hack Fruit Company of this city. Since he left their employ he has done practically nothing.
He has lived with his mother, Mrs.
Isabella Thornton, and his sister at No.
821 West Eighteenth street in this city.
About two years ago, while visiting in San Francisco, young Thornton went temporarily insane. He was brought back to Los Angeles and examined as to his sanity, but discharged. Since that time he has been subject to occasional returns of nervous trouble, though otherwise his health has been good. He seemed unable to secure or retain employment, and this preyed on his mind. It is supposed by his friends that after reaching St. Louis he became discouraged and despondent, and that this brought on temporary derangement of his mind, during which he killed himself. FOR SALE—A FINE DRIVING HORSE.

Got Another Man's Clothes.

Morrison released narry rowers on bail, and fixed November 17 as the date for his arraignment on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Powers is the young man who made it exceedingly lively for four men who, he says, insulted his mother in her own doorway, on First street near Alameda. The young man's father, who is an invalid, came to his son's rescue and whacked John Greengart, one of the party, over the head with a cane, knocking him down. Greengart was taken home, where he remained in an unconscious condition for some time, and his father, Simon Greengart, swore to a complaint against old man Powers and his son, charging them with assault with a deadly weapon. Young Powers was arrested on Saturday evening. The elder Powers is tousick to be removed from his bed at present. Charles Rubin was arrested on Los Angeles street and Sunday and locked Angeles street and Sunday and locked up on suspicion. Some time ago a man named J. Eldred came here from San Francisco, shipping a suit of clothes by Wells-Fargo Express. Eldred lost the receipt and it was suspected that Rubin found it and got the clothes by representing himself as Elfred, as he had the clothes on when arrested. Yesterday he pleaded guilty in Justice Morrison's court, and will be sentenced today.

HOLD LUZON!

Problem of Colonial

Possession.

PARTITION OF THE GROUP TO SPANISH.

Favor American Retention of the Island-Factories in the Problem.

[Correspondence San Francisco Chronicle.] MANILA, Oct. 1.-Brig.-Gen. Harrion Gray Otis of California, who is time between military duty and a close study of local conditions. He has gone into the subject very exhaustively, and declares that he is strongly for the retention of the better part of the Philippines. He wants the United States to lay hold on Luzon, if not more, and di-vide the rest of the group among the powers, rather than see Spanish sovereignty restored. He consented to give his views to the readers of the Chroni-cle, and did so in the following exhaus-

"Gen. Otis, what are your views touching the policy of the United States holding the Philippine Islands, in whole is, as a rule, not well for a soldier to talk for the newspapers; but in the present case, as I will have no occasion to discuss military matters with you, I may venture to say something in response to your question without taking the risk of running up against the army regulations with a jolt. We here, in the army of the Philippines, are, however, so far separated from the people of the United States, both in distance and time, that I apprehend people of the United States, both in distance and time, that I apprehend that anything I may say for publication will become untimely before you are able to spread it before the people of the country through the San Francisco Chronicle. Nevertheless, I will chance it, it you say so.

"As to holding the whole Phillipine archipelago (a large part of which is, however, only constructively in our possession as yet,) it would be a great undertaking for our country to enter upon the colonial policy on a wholesale scale, an undertaking which, as nearly as I can discern from my newspaper dates of a month ago, the government was hesitating over at that time. The weight of public opinion seemed to be in favor of seizing and holding the entire Philippine group, while the administration inclined to the policy of holding the Island of Luzon alone."

"What is your opinion about that?"

"I would hold one island at least, and that should be the Island of Luzon by all means, with the city and bay of Manila, and Cavite, with its navy yard, arsenal and dry docks."

"You think it would be unwise, then, to limit ourselves to holding Mania only, with its immediate surround-arsenal and dry docks."

"You think it would be unwise, then, to limit ourselves to holding Manla only, with its immediate surroundings?"

"It certainly would; in fact, it would be manifest folly for the United States to keep possession only of the limited territory which you have just named, leaving the remainder of this great island in the hands of either a foreign power or under the control of Aguinaldo and his Filipino followers. Such a course would eventually lead to conflict and disorder. We do not want an uncertain and possibly a hostile element hid away in the hills, swamps or forests of the interior, or lurking in the mazes of the deep montes that lie along the bay and island shores—concealed foes, ready to break out with or without provocation and carry on a bushwhacking warfare upon the United States forces cooped up in Cavite and Manila."

"What have you to say about a nos-Manila."

"What have you to say about a possible settlement which would return the Spaniards to power in the Philippines?"
"Parcel the archipelago among the powers rather than that. I am firm in my belief that Spanish domination in these islands should end forever. The time has passed for leaving the country longer under the government of Spain, which has for centuries misgoverned which has for centuries misgoverned these populous and fertile islands. That truth, it seems to me, is so obvious that it admits of no discussion. Any attempt upon the part of Spain, even with the consent of the United States, to resume control of the Philippines would surely result in revolution and anarchy, which would be merely a return of the old and bad order of things here. The native inhabitants of the country, the Filipinos and the various races which inhabit the different islands of the group, would resist with arms the attempt of Spain to reëstablish her power among them; they would resist as they did before, and fight long and hard; and, though they are poor soldlers, when judged from a modern army standpoint, they can nevertheless do what they have already done; they can put up' a tough fight when encountered can 'put up' a tough fight when encour tered upon their own ground. They make dangerous bushwhackers, and when they once take to the tall timber, or to the impenetrable underbrush and or to the impenetrable underbrush and the thick tropical jungles along shore, armed with the many modern rifes which they have captured from their ancient foes, together with their dreaded machetes, and with even the few cannon which they have, they could worry the regular Spanish army, no matter how large or well armed.

few cannon which they have, they sould worry the regular Spanish army, no matter how large or well armed, for the Spanish soldiers have never proved themselves the equal of the insurgents in brush fighting. The latter would, therefore, be capable of indefinitely prolonging the contest and of making the issue doubtful.

"What do you say to the report that Spain proposes, in case the islands are restored to her under the peace negotiations now pending, to mobilize an army of 110,000 men and send them to unigh the insurgents and reconquer he islands?"

"The attempt would be futile. Spain would succeed no better than she has succeeded in the past. Look at that past! Spain has tried for centuries to conquer these people, but has signally failed after repeated armed aggressions and the infliction upon them of unheard-of cruelites, horrible to contemplate in this age. She has sent shipload after shipload of troops to the Philippines, and yet, after prolonged effort to subdue the native populations, she made no substantial progress in conquering the islands as a whole. Her soldiers and civil rulers have never penetrated the interior, and there are extensive areas in the archipelago where the flag and the authority of Spain were never recognized, and in some cases never heard of."

"Do you believe the native people would welcome the flag and the government of the United States over their country?"

"I do. I think the Filipinos, judging from the temper of the Luzon Island

The sagacious ones among them see in advance that, if left to their own devices, any attempt, if made on a democratic basis or the basis of universal suffrage, on the part of the masses of the islanders to establish a uniform and stable civil administration over this wide-extended island empire in the Pacific would prove a failure. The mass of the native people are incapable of the high task of governing themselves. Their conceptions of liberty under law are too crude as yet, and their capacity for self-control insufficiently developed to make the experiment a promising or a safe one. So it would be better for these people, now that their necks have been taken from under the Spanish yoke through the powerful aid of the great republic, to accept her suzerainty—to take shelter under her broad and protecting wings for the time being, at least, if she will graciously consent to spread those wings for that benign purpose."

"Suppose the United States should decide to keep only the island of Luzon, declining other territory in that quarter of the world; what about the remainder of the Philippine group."

"In that case it would, in my judgment, be better for the present and future of the country—better for the permanent prosperity of the whole Philippine group—that the territory should be partitioned among the powers, rather than suffer the sway of Spain over it to be resumed, provided such a partition could be reached without an international 'scrap.'"

"How would the native people look upon the intervention of any European nation in these islands?"

"How would the native people look upon the intervention of Spain; nor is there one of those nations which is not infinitely more capable than is Spain of rightly administering a government adapted to the requirements of the people of these islands in the essential elements of justice, equity, public order and the security of the rights of person and property."

"How do you regard our victories in the Pacific Orient with respect to their future influence upon our marritim great bay of Manila, and, later on, the city of Manila itself, a commercial mar of more than 200,000 people, such as the city is and such as the people are. So have secured a chain of ocean posts leading from the Occidental shores of the New World to the Oriental shores of the New World to the Oriental shores of the New World to the Oriental shores of the old. These posts are of unquestionable strategic value and of prime commercial importance to the United States. Then why should we abandon them? Why should we surrender to their former possessors, or to any nation on eath, what our soldiers and sallors have fairly won in war? Why should Uncle Sam make the eagle scream till his strident voice could be heard all the way across the wide ocean stretch between California and China, and then permit any nation on the footstool to throttle and silence the noble bird? It would be neither national nor individual human nature to surrender these notable captures if they are believed by our people to be worth their cost, their very small cost, comparatively, as fortune has decreed in this case; and they certainly are woth many times all they cost. The substantial business interests of Manila all favor American retention of this island. our own observation, I believe, will bear me out in this statement. Not even the Spanish merchants want to go back to the broken rule of effece old Spain. The secure foothold which we have gained in the Philippines, here at Cavite and Manila, has given us a clear vantage ground—a strong naval and commercial station—well over toward the shores of Asia, extending our commercial storders nearer to China and Japan, thus enabling the United States, and especially California, to better build up that vaduable commerce which is possible with those countries, teeming as they are, with a countless population, which will gradually become large customers of many of our varied products. The very pressing problem of coal for our navy on the Asia. cust, which will gradually become large customers of many of our varied products. not from the bunkers of the warships alone—has been solved by the brilliant achievements of Dewey and Merritt and the brave men whom they led to victory in these waters and on these shores. In the future our coaling stations at Cavite, Manila, Guam and Honolulu (or Pearl Harbor) will carry supplies enough for all our naval wants, enabling our warships to police the Pacific without risk of getting disabled in mid-ocean for want of steam power. This is a great consideration, alone worth all the cost of the campaign which has made the new conditions possible." This is a great consideration, alone worth all the cost of the campaign which has made the new conditions possible."

"What about the development of these islands under American control?"

"I see no reason why it should not go on with far greater success than it ever did under Spanish rule, and even with all the drawbacks attending that rule—all the industrial lethargy, supidity, oppression and governmental mismanagement of Spani in the Phitippines—they have made such progress in production as to attract the attention of the commercial and industrial world. No man who has knowledge of the historic past and of the present striking situation can doubt that under American control even this one island of Luzon would become a valuable and profitable colonial possession for our country. The reforms in the local government—and you as a discerning student of affairs here, a discriminating observer on the spot during many months and as a practical man of affairs know how sadly they are needel—will bring order where before were disorder. revolt and social chaos. Such reforms will stimulate industry, thereby promoting production and increasing wealth. Just treatment of and sure protection for the native peoples, who are the laborers, producers and wealth-winners of the islands, will surely make them prefer peace, industry and the opportunity for individual accumulation, instead of war, waste, desolation and personal poverty. The guarantee of these blessings will cause them to love, and not to hate, their rulers, for my observation here, limited though it has been, leads me to believe that these Filipinos are by no means devoid of sense, appreciation, discrimination or gratitude. At least, they are in the habit of keeping an eye out for the main chance. They are inveterate traders, and I, discover that they have a very lively appreciation of the value of the nimble peso, even if it be a 'cart-wheel' bearing the Mexican stamp, worth less than 50 cents in American money. This fact—the fact of a keen acquisitiveness—may be re Filipino manufacturers of Filipino manufacturers of no inconsiderable importance, even under the adverse conditions which have prevailed here under Spanish rule. I do not think these people lack industry, taking into account the enervating quality of the climate and their discouraging experience in the past, when they got little or nothing for their labor. I believe they, as a people, are capable of good under fair treatment and just laws. I do not think they are fit for self-government, but, all the same, they have the right to labor freely and be protected in their persons, property and pursuits; in short, to have that just treatment accorded to them which is the inalienable right of every human being."

sons, property and pursuits; in short, to have that just treatment accorded to them which is the inalienable right of every human being."

"What have you to say of the islands as a place for American laborers?"

"I do not consider the conditions favorable. The climate would be against the average American day or farm laborer, because the heat, during a large part of the year, will not permit him to work in the sun during several hours of the day. I think the native acclimated labor is what will have to be depended upon for the development of the islands. This labor, under the employment and direction of American capitalists and managers, could be made fairly efficient. The able American manager could, you see, sit in his pajamas under a mangrove tree, drink cools stuff, boss the job, and grow up with the country. When paid what their labor is fairly worth, and protected as they have a right to be, the natives could, I believe, be easily persuaded to abandon the leadership of their ambitious chiefs, such as Aguinaldo, because they have sense enough to discern the difference between prosnaldo, because they have sense enough to discern the difference between pros their ambitious chiefs, such as Aguinaldo, because they have sense enough to discern the difference between prosperity and poverty."

"Were you an original territorial expansionist?"

"On the contrary, quite the reverse. But things are different now; conditions have changed. We have been engaged in a great war with Spain, and I believe now that the war is ended victoriously for us, in holding on to at least those of our captured possessions which the people and government of the United States may finally decide to be valuable property for national ownership—'a good thing to keep.' At the same time I do not advocate a general colonial policy for the United States; I do not favor spreading out an a wholsale scale merely for the sake of territorial expansion alone, or to estistive the new and unreasoning popular clamor heard in some quarters for grabbing everything in sight. We have taken from Spain, by legitimate captures in war, a large expanse and a great variety of territory, some of it rich, some of it poor; let us, in the settlement, take our pick of it, without the consent of any nation on earth, and throw the remainder away, or give it to our esteemed contemporaries of Europe (with the exception of Spain,) or even to Japan, which is friendly, enterprising and ambitious to forge to the front in the race of nations."
"Do you expect to be kept much longer in the service?"
"No; I think orders for the muster out of the volunteers cannot be long deferred. As I did not enter for the purpose of pursuing the life of a professional soldier, or with a desire to serve in time of peace, I will gladly welcome the word from Washington which will permit me to feave the army."

"Is that the feeling of the Volunteers generally?"

which will permit me to leave the army."
"Is that the feeling of the volunteers generally?"
"Yes, generally?" so far as I know. The volunteers, as a rule do not wish to perform garrison duty, or serve intime of peace. In nearly all cases they have more important interests at home to command their attention, and, after discharging their full duty under their enlistment, they desire release. I await the indispensable order from Washington before leaving the service, and exthe indispensable order from Washing-ton before leaving the service, and ex-pect to see California before January. When I am released from my military obligations I shall joyfully return to my home and friends in California and to the pursuits of civil and journalisti

"Not so good, I am sorry to say, as I could wish. The daily sick lists are unpleasantly long, though the number confined to the hospital does not aggree than they shoul 3 per cent of the entire brigade of 28% officers and men. There are a good many cases of 'sick in quarters.' swelling the total sick list beyond that percentage; as I have already indicated, the prevailing diseases are malarial fever, then typhoid, measles, mumps, dysentery and the surgical cases. This latter class of cases, so my brigade surgeon reports, have been dong unusually well, considering the cliing unusually well, considering the matic conditions. The mumps did originate here, but were brought ing sickness to?"

"The fevers spring from the hot climate and the sodden soil; measles are readily located, and the dysentery cases are due to too much drinking of unboiled water and the indiscriminate eating of unripe or overripe fruits. Much of the sickness is clearly due to the defective quarters which our troops have to occupy. The 'old, musty and ill-ventilated Spanish barracks here in Cavite, and also to some extent in Manila, are unfit places to quarter troops. Sleeping on the first floor should be avoided, but has not always been possible. The narrow streets—mere lanes—were found in a foul condition, but marked progress has been made by the military in the work of cleaning them. A town or city is a bad place, anyhow, to station regiments. It would be far better, did the military exigencies permit, for the men to be put into camps on high ground, far away from any town or city. If that could yet be done I believe that the sick lists would rapidly shorten. The enforced inactivity of garrison life has had much to dowith the health; it is trying upon all of us. The failure to see more active service has been very disappointing to this army. There have been some cases of heat prostration, but not many. Care is taken to avoid these by making as few movements and doing as little work as is practicable during the hotter hours of the day. Our drills, inspections, reviews, parades and other evolutions are carried on in the early ons, reviews, parades and other eve morning and late evening, when the temperature is comparatively cool. The climate has, however, I think, been much maligned. It is better than most of the written descriptions make it out. We are just now entering upon what is called the cool dry season, although I have as yet seen no signs of drought, nor any snowfall, and Jack Frost would not be recognized if he should be seen standing under a banana tree. You see how it is pouring right now. The death roll, I am glad to say, has not been unusually large, considering the number of troops here, over 12,000 in all."
"Gen. Otis, what is your opinion of the soldiers of the regular army and of the vokunteers, compared with each other?"

"I never make invidious comparisons between the two classes. It would be unjust and senseless to do so, and foreign to my inclinations and habits of thought. I take no tsock in the cheap controversies carried on in same quarters over the alleged superiority of 'regulars' over 'volunteers,' and vice versa. Both have their places in the military establishment in time of war, e volunteers compose the main body of the great army of 1898, as they did of that immortal and triumphant host which made up the army of 1861-65; and I believe that no other nation since time began ever put into the field in the ment of the United States over their country?"

THE AUSTRALIAN BALLOT AND THE

INDEPENDENT VOTER. There is no ground for a difference of opinion, at this late day, as to the value of the Australian ballot system, It has very materially affected the character of popular elections wherever it has been adopted-which is in nearly every State of the Union-and invariably its influence has been for good. As a protection to the individual voter against coercion or undue influence, it is well-nigh perfect, Though in some respects somewhat cumbersome and slow, its advantages so far outweigh its defects that the latter are not worth considering. The voter, when he enters the booth to mark his ballot, is alone with his conscience. Whatever may be his fortune, his position in society, his standing in the community, his occupation or his beliefs, in the voting booth he is supreme—a sovereign citizen of the greatest republic on earth—and no man has the right or the power to influence him by a hair's breadth in the choice which he makes between the various candidates. The citizen may be hampered in his daily life by social restrictions, by business considerations, or by other influences, so that he "may not do the thing he would." But all these restrictions fall away from him during the brief time he occupies the polling booth, and in sense he becomes a free, sovereign, and independent American cit

The Australian ballot system is the calladium of the independent voter, as well as the surest and best means of rotection that has yet been devised for the partisan voter. In the blanket ballot from which he may select at will the candidates of his choice, the dependent voter finds an ideal medium for expressing his will, with the certainty that his individual opinion, s expressed in his ballot, will have its due and proper weight in the deter-mination of the questions at issue. That the independent voter fully apeciates the opportunities thus aforded him is evidenced by the fact hat at the late election a very small proportion of the ballots cast were straight party votes, while a corre-spondingly large proportion of the ballots were "scratched."

Under the present system, in Cal-ifornia, each voter is required to vote separately for each of the candidates of his choice, by stamping a cross pposite the name of every candidate for whom he wishes to vote. In this way the voter is compelled to go through the list of candidates carefully, and to designate those whom e wishes to vote for by a separate mark for each. It has been suggested, that the ex isting law should be so amended as to ermit the voter if he sees fit. vote a straight party ticket placing a single cross at the ead of such ticket, each of the party tickets being placed by itself on the ballot, instead of grouping the candidates for each office, as is the present

Some surprise was expressed that it was found impossible to maintain the mining exchange in Los Angeles, which gave up the ghost a few months ago, after a precarious existence of a year or so. That it should not have succeeded, is, however, small subject for surprise, when we note that even New York has found it almost impossible to keep a mining exchange going. An Eastern journal reports that the New York mining exchange is in demoralized condition, with scarcely any business doing, and only a handful of brokers present at the sessions. One of the members of the exchange makes the following explanation of this condition of affairs in the New York Commercial:

DEALING IN MINING STOCKS.

"There have been a few men here who cared nothing for the welfare of the exchange, so long as they served their own ends. They have lied about they have been unprincipled in their trading, and have pursued the policy of dog eat dog, until some of the policy of dog eat dog, until some of the reputable members have become disgusted and refused to trade here at all, while others have tried to do a legitimate business in spite of the 'shysters' and have met with indifferent success."

Another member said:

"Then there has not been enough strictness exercised as to the class of shares sold here. Mines have been capitalized at a million dollars that were merely a hole in the ground, and the sale of such stocks on the floor here has hurt the exchange."

The fact is that there has been althe mining business as something that is more of a gamble than a legitimate business. Mining companies have been organized in a reckless manner and capitalized for hundreds of times the amount of their actual assets, until it is not surprising that conservative men have been led to regard with amend the California election law in suspicion every kind of mining enterprise, although, as a fact, there is no reason why mining, when carried on legitimately, should not be as safe and profitable as any other line of investment. If investors would exercise as nuch care in going into a mining enterprise as they do in undertaking any other kind of business, we should soon see a decided decrease in the wild-cat mining enterprises that are placed upon the market, with the view of catching suckers.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

The Sacramento Bee, which was one of the stanchest supporters of Maguire, and which has been one of the most conspicuous occupants of the mourners' bench since his defeat, tells how it all happened in a long editorial. from which the following is an exand evidently at the dictation of the San Francisco Examiner, the Board of Strategy conducting the Maguire fight mapped out an idiotic plan of campaign which drove votes from that candidate from its very inception.

They narrowed the issues down to only one—it was the San Francisco Examiner on one hand, and C. P. Huntington on the other. That was not the way the Board of Strategy put it, but that most undeniably was the way in which the people viewed it. And, that idea grew with its growth and strengthened with its strength when it became noticeable that James G. Maguire, the champion of the masses on many a vital issue, had only one subject to speak about—the railroad. It extended into a convertient on the part of the people when viction on the part of the people when the Examiner day in and day out threw columns of written and pictorial to submit tamely to the party by voting for candidates whom know to be bad men, simply besuch candidates have been dupon their party ticket. THE BURBANK. Small audiences the Burbank, and the number of pec ple who gathered last night to greet the opening presentation of "Fra Diavolo" was encouragingly large. The work done by the Grau Opera Com-pany in this charming opera is fully up to the standard it has established for itself, and a most judiciously-balanced cast has been chosen to interpret the delightful melodies woven by Francois Auber around the story of the famous bandit. This opera, which have preceded it, is well staged and picturesquely costumed, and the entire performance is satisfactory to a degree. Almost all the solos and Just why the world-famous sextette Just why the world-famous sextette from "Lucia di Lammermoor" should be dinterpolated as a finale to the second act of "Fra Diavolo" is not apparent, but the sextette itself is so beautiful that all sense of incongruity is lost in the delight of its marvelous harmonies. It was sung last night by Miss Carrington, Miss Meyers, Mr. Langlois, Mr. Broderick, Mr. Davies and Mr. Young, and it was so well sung that even a Los Angeles audience was awakened to appreciative encores and curtain calls. It was easily the best thing in the opera, and was a beautiful bit of clean, artistic ensemble work.

The part of Fra Diavolo was sung by The part of Fra Diavolo was sung by Sylvian Langlois. In the first song or two Mr. Langlois did not appear to be in as good voice as usual, but his tones grew steadily better as he warmed to his work, and in some parts of the second and third acts he was eminently satisfactory. Harry Davies, as Lorenzo, sang particularly well, especially in the delicious little love song in the third act

Fannie Meyers was charming in the Fannie Meyers was charming in the part of Zerlina. Her solo work was at its best in the little song before her mirror, followed by the prayer in the second act. LOS ANGELES THEATER. The reign of low prices at the Los Angeles Theater was inauspiciously ushered in last evening by a vaudeville squad, the proper sphere of action for most of whose members would be to abet a successful health lecturer. The glamor of a reputation as the leading playhouse, gilded with the lure of popular prices, will not fill the seats of the Los Angeles unless something better is offered than mildewed anecdotes, stale coon songs and witted knockabout foolery dished up into a second-class olio. The presence of the regimental officers and Co. C of the Seventh helped to enliven things last evening, but without the soldiers the house would have been a desert. Mott's Vaudevilles have been playing in Pomona, Ventura and similar metropoles for a top-notch price of 30 cents. To present the same show in Los Angeles for half a dollar scarcely does credit to the widely-heralded resolve of the management "to play each attraction upon its merits alone, and regulate the price accordingly."

There was a little sunshine in the general gloom. Except for some minor blasphemy and fragrant witticisms about sweating negroes on the part of the ventriloquist, the programme did not offend against good taste. Martin's educated dogs scored an unqualified success. The buildog with trousers on his wrong end who climbed ladders backward, the canine prize fighters, somersaulting acrobats, skirt dancers, rolling basket walkers and balancers were cleverly trained and amusing, and the hounds who made friends with the officers in Col. Berry's box and afterward jumped lofty hurdles, were four-legged birds for grace and litheness.

Travelle proved himself a deft and graceful juggler, a fair conjurer, and a clever mimic, and his shadow pictures were fantastic and graphic. The Michelson brothers played classical music on the most incongruous of in-

The Michelson brothers played classical music on the most incongruous of instruments, the banjo, and the younger of the pair, not much bigger than a mosquito, covered himself with glory by his solos. The waragraph presented a long succession of moving pictures. The views of the Seventh Regiment marching up Market street in San Francisco set the house wild with delight, and every warship presented was hailed with rousing cheers. The machine used was evidently old, and the pictures blurred badly. Bell and Dalton wearied with a stupid and noisy knockabout act, which ended with some good comedy acrobatics. John Delmore sang coon songs and dazzled with a swell darky costume. Badger and Walton made jokes and played assorted musical instruments. Al Hazzard presented an antique ventriloquil act.

There will be a matinee Wednesday at bargain prices. Thursday and the remainder of the week, Murray and Mack, Irish comedians, will present "Finnigan's Ball."

ORPHEUM. The show at this house is beginning later and later every week and finishing not far from the hour of midnishing not far from the hour of midnishit, to the grief of an audience some part of which would like to have time to round up to the lunch counter before taking the car for home, but still this lamentable fact does not appear to affect the audience, for therewas the usual Monday night jam last evening, and equally, of course, the usual and breezy and diverting performance.

song, story and the biograph, made his first appearance here in vaudeville last might with Sally Cohen in a lively skit called "Our Honeymoon." and scored a hit. Mr. Rice has a style that is gay and debonair, and Miss Cohen makes a charming foil. The sketch or playette relates to one Ferdinand Mingle's visit to a prizefight in the middle of his honeymoon, and the trouble and complications that result are no end laughable. The work of these performers is particularly clever.

Raymon Moore, the young man who is responsible for having driven the haunting refrain of "Sweet Marie" and other ballads that have become familiar in the home and shoot the stage, appeared in a potpouri of his own graceful compositions, and sang them well. There is good, clean sentiment in Mr. Moore's songs, and he renders them with the feeling that comes from the heart of a singer whose soul is in his work.

The Newsboys' Quintette, which was brought on to finish the show, had their turn damaged by the haste of the audience to get home before the electric lights went out and the milkman had made his rounds. The youngsters sing well, and there is a chocolate-colored lad in the team who dances on the sanded boards with genuine darky unction.

The Era of Independence.

[Western Graphic:] Whatever lessons the election has taught, none is more plainly presented than the fact that the independent voter can be relied upon to cast his suffrage as he conscientiously believes to be for the greatest good to the greatest number. This fact has been conspicuously brought out both in the State and county election. It has appeared to the people that the candidates for Supreme Judges and for clerk of that court on the Republican ticket were not worthy, and they were turned down. In our local election. Justice Morrison was severely rebuked by the people, who did not think him fit for so honorable a position, and he was likewise turned down. The independent press alone is to be credited for giving the information that leads up to this independent action of the voters, because it pointed out the unworthiness of the several defeated candidates.

Efforts to Trace Him by His Laun dry Mark and the Number of His Shoes Have Been in Vain-Inquest Today.

The case of the man whose body was found in the Ballona lagoon Sunday morning is still a mystery. Efforts to identity the remains in Santa Monica, where they now lie, have been in Vain. Coroner Campbell went to Santa Monica yesterday, and, after having an autopsy performed, decided to postpone the inquest in the case till this morning, hoping that in the interval some one might by found who could identify the corpse. Sheriff Burr also visited Santa Monica and started an investigation.

The post-mortem examination, which was made by Dr. Lindsey of Santa Monica and the Coroner, developed unpectedly. When examined Sunday as closely as was permissible be ore the arrival of the Coroner, the body appeared to have two bullet wounds in the left breast. When that part of the surface was cleared yesterday it was discovered that there was only one wound. At the point of entrance the wound was long, and was cornered at the ends, which seemed to demonstrate that it had been caused by a stab with a knife. The course of the wound was followed and it was found that one of the ribs had been splintered and fragments of bone had been carried through into the lungs. There were grains of what was thought to be powder where the wound had penetrated the lungs and down by the spinal column was found a 38-caliber bullet, evidently from a revolver.

The wound had entered the left breast about an inch below the nipple Both lungs, when put in water, floated although the right lung which had not been perforated, was the more buoyant. That fact was said to demonstrate that the man was dead before his body got into the water of the lagoon, and that he did not die of drowning. The bullet did not pass throughthe heart, and death was said to be due to an Internal hemorrhage. The man might have lived a short time after the wound was received, although he could not have lived long.

A few details concerning the man's description, beyond those given in yes terday's Times were brought out Judging from the appearance of the face the doctors thought that the man had been pock-marked. Only one laundry mark was found on the clothing and that was on the underwear The mark looked like "N 51 H" The tan shoes found on the feet bore the stamp of the W. L. Douglas Commany but no retailer's mark. On the inside of the gore was stamped. "9 D 7650."

One man identified the cornse as that of a former switchman employed at the stamp of the W. L. Douglas Commany but no retailer's mark. On the inside of the sone information as to whom the m

On Union avenue Sunday afternoon a colored man of rather tender years was showing the beauties of the city to three young women of the same race. One of these occupied a seat with the man in a rather dilapidated wagon, while the other two occupied chairs in the rear of the conveyance. At the corner of Union avenue and Twelfth street the horse rebelled and kicked up his heels. The occupants of the seat were thrown back against the chairs, and all the inmates were tumbled into the street on their heads, though no one was hurt. Then came a long parley between the driver and the girls, the latter now standing on their dignity, instead of their heads, and refusing to go further, while the former kept repeating, "Don't be a coward: he won't kick up no moh." This persuasive eloquence at last won the day, and the quartette adjusted themselves anew and started off. They "He Won't Kick Up No Moh." themselves anew and started off. They had gone but a few blocks when a wheel came off the wagon, and the ccupants were once more uncere-nonlously dumped into the street. This urther explanations and entres the three young women started for home with their noses in the air, leav-ing the humiliated, though no crushed, beau to repair damages.

A Motorman Injured. Motorman E. Pollard met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock, at the old power-house about 1 o'clock, at the old power-house on the corner of Seventh street and Grand avenue. Barn Foreman Percy Warner had just started to take Polard's car out of the power-house, and he ran and jumped onto the front step of the car while it was in motion, not noticing its close proximity to an iron support which is within a few inches of the track. Pollard was crushed between the car and the iron post, sustaining severe but not serious injuries about the abdomen and hips. He was taken to his room in the Eureka House, No. 626 Stephenson avenue, where Dr. Cates attended him. He will probably be out again in three or four weeks.

The name "Fusionists" as applied to the combination of the so-called Dem-perats, Populists and Silver Republicans, does not express the existing re-letions of those parties with reference to the municipal election next month. The term "Confusionists," often applied to the combination in jest, would be better applicable to them, for there is now a hopeless tangle among them over the appointment of the officers are to preside at the polls on elec-Being unable to settle the trouble among themselves, they applied to the City Council yesterday to straighten out the matter, and for an hour or more there was a vigorous de-tate upon the subject. The Populists, through the agency of Ernest Abs Hagen and El Hutch, made a belated effort to take a hand in the arbitration of the water question yesterday, and as has been the experience of the Pops this year, they were again turned down. Abs Hagen offered his services to the City Council, and offered to go before the board of arbitration and tell all he knew of the water question. There was a suggestion of pay for the service in his offer, but that was qualified by the offer of free service if pay were not forthcoming. His offer was not received with any favor, being referred to the board of engineers.

The City Council Refuses to Settle -Bids for a Park Site-Salary Ordinance Defeated New Fire Engines Wanted.

The regular session of the City Coun cil yesterday was productive of several surprises, some of them being with reference to matters of great general im portance. There were also a number of important other matters which com-manded the attention of the members and the two sessions were altogethe the most important that that body has held for several weeks. Politics entered largely into the deliberations, and the Populists, and their alleged interests were much in evidence. Both the morn ing and the afternoon sessions were of unusual length, and there was no time lost in the needless debate of unim

As is usual the reports of the officers having charge of the financial business of the city were first considered. They included the weekly trial balance of the City Auditor, the report of the license collections of the Tax Collector for October; the weekly report of the City Treasurer and the monthly report of the same officer. All such reports were referred to the Finance Committee. portant subjects.

MAIN-STREET REPAVING.

More than a week ago a numerously signed petition was received from prop erty-owners on North Main street, ask ing that proceedings be instituted for the resurfacing of that street between First and Marchessault streets, under the same specifications and in the same manner as the southern end of Main street, and all of Spring street same manner as the southern end of Main street, and all of Spring street had been resurfaced. This petition was referred to the City Engineer, and yesterday the City Engineer, and yesterday the City Engineer presented an ordinance of intention for the work. The ordinance declares that the interests of the public demand that a new surface be placed on that street, and provides for it by the lowering of the granite blocks above Temple street, and the surfacing of them with asphaltum. The ordinance was 'unanimously adopted. Unless these proceedings are protested out, and there seems to be no probability of such protest being filled, North Main street will be made in the same excellent condition as second. The particular of course, be a continuation of the new surface on Spring street, and will, of course, be a continuation of the new surface on Spring street. The City Engineer also presented an ordinance defining the lines of Main and Spring streets, which was adopted. The purpose of this ordinance was to settle all questions as to where Spring street ends, and what is really Main street at its two intersections with Spring street.

CITY ENGINEER'S REPORT.

CITY ENGINEER'S REPORT. Accompanying the weekly report of the City Engineer were the following ordinances, all of which were adopted: Final ordinances, and when were adopted.

Final ordinances changing and establishing the grade of First street between Grand and Bunkerhill avenues changing and establishing the grade of Vermont avenue between Wilshire Vermont avenue between Wilshire boulevard and Seventh street; establishing the grade of Channing street from Ninth street to the south line of lishing the grade of Channing Sites from Ninth street to the south line of the Ninth-street extension tract; establishing the grade of Ann street from Main street to San Fernando street; ordinances of intention for the grading, etc., of Mimosa street between Sixth and Seventh streets; for the grading, etc., of Palmetto street from Mateo street to the east line of the Arthur tract; for he grading, etc., of Grand avenue between Court and First streets; to lay a cement sidewalk and curb on the north side of Sixth-street between Alvarado and Dora streets; to change the Camero street to South avenue and to establish the grade of Avenue and to establish the grade of Avenue 26 from Pasadena avenue to the Arroyo Seco. The diagram of assessment for the sewering of Broadway between Third and Seventh streets, presented by the City Engineer, was also adopted.

The weekly report of the City Clerk, sented by the City Engineer, was also adopted.

The weekly report of the City Clerk, heretofore published, containing a number of final ordinances to adopt which the Council had acquired jurisdiction through having denied protests or because no protests were received, was adopted in full, and all the ordinances were accepted and passed except that which provides for the sidewalking of Hope street north of First. In this proceeding, on motion of Councilman Baker, the proceedings were abandoned with the understanding that the property-owners pay the costs abandoned with the understanding that the property-owners pay the costs of the work already done. The matter was referred to the Board of Public Works. "It further appears that Mr. King of the Engineer's office has already drawn the additional compensation allotted to him for the months of July, August and September of this year by means of a demand upon the salary fund based upon a requisition duly approved by the Mayor and Council.

based upon a requisition duly approved by the Mayor and Council.

"It is the opinion of your committee that the determination of your honorable body in August last that Messrs. King and Thomas were entitled to additional compensation together with your act in making due allowance to their respective departments for that purpose imposes an obligation to see that a way is provided for paying the same into the hands of these employes. The passage of the ordinance amendment as herewith returned to your honorable body seems the only honorable course to pursue unless you have determined that your former action in making the increase was ill-advised, and even then it becomes your duty to provide for the payment of the increase from July 1 to the date of any intended repudiation of the former agreement.

of the increase from July 1 to the date of any intended repudiation of the former agreement.

"Believing it to be the desire of your honorable body to carry out the original agreement, your committee respectfully recommends the passage of the original amendment to the salary ordinance as herewith submitted.

"In the matter of the amendment made in open Council to the original amending ordinance as submitted by the City Attorney, to wit: The provision for increasing the salary of all chief deputies to $100 per month, you committee finds that no provision has been made in the annual appropriations for the proposed increase, yet it is entirely within the province of your honorable body to make such provision, dating from the current month, if sufficient funds can be made available therefor."

This report was accompanied by the ordinance providing for the increase in the salaries of Messrs. King, and Thomas. This ordinance was amended at the last meeting of the Council by first providing that the salary of Chief Clerk Haskins of the City Clerk's orfice be made $100 per month, and later by including in the same salary allowance all chief deputies. In that form it had been referred to the Finance Committee, but the committee returned it to the Council in its original form. After the reading of the report of the committee the ordinance was placed upon its passage. It so happened that Councilmen Blanchard and Baker had been called out of the room a few minutes before, leaving six members present. With that number present it required the unanimous vote to pass the ordinance. On the vote on the bers present. With that number present it required the unanimous vote to pass the ordinance. On the vote on the measure, Mr. Nickell voted in the negative, explaining that he did not believe the Council had the right to change the salaries and make the change date back to July 1. The ordinance was therefore declared to be lost, A POPULISTIC PLAN.

An effort to inject a Populistic ele-An effort to inject a Populistic element into the present arbitration over the water question, and possibly to incidentally reap benefits or credit from whatever the result of that arbitration may be, was made in the form of a petition presented by Ernest Abs Hagen, who appealed for a position to represent the city before the Board of Arbitrators. The offer had a string to it with reference to compensation, as will be seen by the communication, which was filed before the Council, Abs Hagen hinting at a desire for pay, but so qualifying that hint as to not make the matter of pay for his services an excuse for turning down his application. Whether he filed the petition himself or whether he had his Populistic ally, the member from the Eighth Ward, file it for him, is not known, but El Hutch favored the plan and that killed it with the other members of the Council. The communication filed by Abs Hagen follows:

"Circumstances compel me to address your honorable body in regard to the pending water arbitration proceedings, and I respectfully ask for your ment into the present arbitration over

"As I well know, I have conducted personally the investigations of the present water plant, and made valuations of the different items composing the plant. The city has adopted this valuation as the basis of its negotiations with the Los Angeles City Water Company, and the arbitration proceedings now pending, as I understand, will call for an itemized revision and substantiation of the appraisements made by me heretofore. I am exceedingly anxious, both as an engineer and as a resident and a taxpayer of this city, to be placed in a position to verify my figures and to substantiate every allegation made by me in the report submitted to your honorable body some time ago, and therefore respectfully ask to be given an opportunity to appear before the arbitration board in the interest of the city as an engineer con-to be given an opportunity to appear before the arbitration board in the interest of the city as an engineer conversant with the facts and value of this water plant. In the event that no provisions can be made to cover expenses incurred by using my services, if accepted, I cheerfully offer the same free of charge to the city."

As soon as the communication was read, Councilman Nickell moved that it be referred to the City Engineer, remarking that it devolved upon that official to present such facts as were of advantage to the city before the board of arbitrators. Mr. Toll approved that reference for the reason that it was not within the province of the Council to say who should appear before the board, or what should be presented. He said that any one who had information which would be of interest to the arbitrators could go before them at the proper time, but it was not proper for the Council to say who should go beside the regular city officials.

This did not please the lone representative of the Populists in the Council, and he asked that the offer be accepted, falling to see that such matters were not within the Frovince of the City Council. His objections to the motion were not considered, and the matter was referred to the City Engineer.

matter was referred to the City Engineer.

City Engineer Dockweiler took the communication and at once submitted it to the board of engineers, who have been at work for several days checking up the estimates of the City Engineer. This work has to be done very carefully, owing to the additions that have been made since the estimates were filed in July. 1897. The opinion of the engineers composing this board was that Abs Hagen's offer was intended as a direct slap at them, and at the estimate made by the engineer, and was an effort to secure for himself a share of the credit for what is almost certain to be a complete vindication of those of the Councilmen and other city officers who have been endeavoring to secure municipal ownership of the water plant by the easiest means. When the City Engineer reports on the matter he will recommend that the communication be placed on the.

Assistant City Attorney Crutcher appeared before the City Council yesterday morning and stated that since the other lists had been furnished him, the Popullists had-presented a list of names, and had demanded that their list be also used. As it was known that there were a number of names of Populists on the Democratic list the attorney's department wanted to know what to do about the matter. To place the Pops' list among the election officers, and it was impossible for the attorney to determine just what names should be stricken from the original list to please the Popullsts.

Mr. Ballerino appeared the Council. Mr. Ballerino appeared with his attorney and the two made a vigorous protest against the opening, declaring that the prices awarded for the land, some three acres of which had been taken, was not near what it was worth. The commissioners had awarded $300 per acre for the land, and Ballerino contended that it was worth between $1500 and $2000 per acre. His protest was finally denied and the report of the commissioners was confirmed. It is almost certain that he will take, the matter into the courts for settlement.

the matter into the courts for settlement.

As was expeced the Board of Public Works recommended to the Council that the protest against the confirmation of the report of the commissioners for the opening of Hoover street between Washington and Bush streets bedenied. Before the motion to adopt this recommendation was put Attorney Hinkley raised the point of the title to certain of the property that had been assessed. Mr. Toll stated that this matter had been closely examined into, and there was no doubt as to the ownership of the property. M. J. Croswell spoke at length against the confirmation of the report, pointing out what he considered injustices in it. President Silver reminded him that the matter had been before the Council for a long time, and had been passed upon by a number of committees, and twice by the commissioners. He, therefore, could not believe that any voluntary injustice had been done. The recommendation of the Board of Public Works was adopted and the report of the commissioners was confirmed.

mittee, appeared before the Council and demanded that his party be given recognition on the election boards, asserting that as the party had cast at least 5 per cent. of the votes polled at the last general election, the party was entitled to recognition. He insisted that at least one name for each precinct be taken from the list of so-called Demicorats, and that the names of Populists be substituted. Then there was a long argument as to what the Council should do. It was shown conclusively that however much the Pops might claim to be acting in accord with the Democrats with reference to the city fight, there was a ruction between them as to election officers, the Populists being seemingly jealous of the political standing given to their fusionist friends, and being desirous of a place on the board, not only by the appointment of members of their party to act in confunction with the Democrats, but to have them known distinctly as Populists. They did not desire to lose their party identity, even on election boards, in spite of the fusion arrangement between them and the Democrats, and dire things, such as mandaruis proceedings against the Council, contesting the legality of the entire election, and other things were hinted at. Just because the Council did not immediately agree with their view of the matter, one of the Populistic speakers declared that the whole proceeding was "a high-handed piece of business." After much argument it was agreed that the matter be referred to Chairman Baker and Chairman Edleman of the Populists and Democrats, respectively, to in some manner agree as to who should represent the two parties at the polls at the city election. That ended the squabble for a time, but it did not satisfy the Populists. The matter then went over until the afternoon session. At the afternoon session the matter was again brought up by the filing by Assistant City Attorney Crutcher of the election boards, and again asserted that the Populist bad held a meeting, but had falled to come to any satisfactory unde The Board of Park Commissioner inspection of Sunst Park the day before, in which they recommended that that park be at once improved. They asked that the City Engineer be directed to survey the place and define the lines of the park before the work was commenced. The Council instructed the engineer to do that work. The work of improving this park is to be commenced as soon as this survey is completed, there being nearly $1000 in the treasury to pay for it. With reference to the petition for the construction of a sidewalk all around Westlake Park and for the improvement of Benton boulevard, the Board of Park Commissioners reported that in their opinion the matter was one which the City Council alone could order. They, therefore, returned the petition. The matter was referred to the Board of Public Works.

"Your party would not stop at such a little thing as an adverse Supreme Court decision, would you?" asked Mr. Toll. who then continued: "Mr. President, this is not the place and the City Council is not the body to settle quarrels such as this between parties who attempt to fuse and who do so only in name. It is not our affair if they cannot agree on such matters. They, seem to be hopelessly mixed and if this continues we will soon have to have the election without election officers, for the time for election will have passed before their argument and discussion on the subject ceases. If they have not agreed upon their list we can only act upon the list which is before us."

they have not agreed upon their list we can only act upon the list which is before us."

When President Silver asked if the rules should be suspended and the ordinance placed upon its passage, the Populist Councilman objected to the suspension of the rules and a vote was taken on the matter. The rules were suspended by a vote of 7 to 1. Before the final vote was taken on the ordinance, Attorney Hinkley again demanded that the Populist list of names be recognized. "I don't know how far this high-handed proceeding will go," said he. "I insist that one name be taken off the Democratic list for each precinct and the name of a Populist be substituted."

"This is not a quarrel for this Council to decide," said Councilman Nickell. "We have only to consider the ordinance as presented, for we cannot decide who is a Democrat or who is a Populist on the list."

The ordinance was then placed upon its passage and was adopted, only the member from the Eighth Ward voting against it.

"When two or three parties get together and go through the form of making joint nominations for offices by holding simultaneous conventions and endorsing each other's tickets, it would appear that any election board which represents any one of them or which is presented by any one of them, can safely be considered as representing all of them."

"I rise to a point of order," interposed the Populist Councilman. On being asked to state his point he said that the Supreme Court has passed upon the point which Mr. Toll was about to make.

The present status of this murder case is peculiar. A number of circumstances were developed during the Clark trial that appeared to indicate that whatever part Harry Clark took in the murder of the Garvanza laundryman, he was not alone. The jury took that view of the case, and, whether it was in accordance "with the law and the evidence" or not, they must have believed that Clark was concerned in the murder when they returned a verdict of murder in the second degree; but they were not satisfied that it was his hand that fired the two fatal shots, or the modified verdict would not have been returned.

The preliminary examination of Isaac B. Williams on the charge of assault to murder his father-in-law, J. W. Casebeer, on the night of October 9, 1897, was resumed in Justice Morrison's court yesterday afternoon. A few witnesses were examined last Friday, after which an adjournment was taken till Monday, owing to fresh wounds received by the complaining witness which made it impossible for him to be in court at that time to give his testimony. He was not present when the case was called yesterday afternoon, but it was decided to proafternoon, but it was decided to proceed without him, as a number of witnesses from Santa Barbara had been detained here since last Friday, and there was no desire, either on the part of the prosecution or the defense, to put the waiting witnesses to any further inconvenience. The venerable complaining witness, however, put in an appearance during the course of the afternoon, and occupied the witness stand the remainder of the day. When court adjourned at 5 o'clock, his crossexamination was still in progress and will be resumed at 9 o'clock this morning.

MUCH MYSTERY.

The second assault on Casebeer is even more mysterious than the first. It occurred last Tuesday night as the old man was returning to his temporary lodgings on Mimosa street, after having been up town to hear the election news. It is alleged that when near the home of Mr. Foster, where Casebeer was rooming, he was waylaid by two men who stabbed him four times in the breast. Up to the present time his attorney and the officers working on the case have observed the greatest secrecy in regard to the matter, and all avenues through which information might leak out about the affair have been closely guarded. Various rumors have been affoat as to how Casebeer received his stab wounds. The impression created on the one hand is that Williams is directly or indirectly responsible for the second assault. On the other hand, judged by the character of the wounds and the occuliar circumstances of the case, it is hinted that Casebeer stabbed himself in order to create sympathy for himself and prejudice against Williams. The second assault on Case

The nearest approach to a publi The nearest approach to a public statement in regard to the stabbling was made by Dr. W. A. Dunn, the attending physician, who was put on the witness stand by the prosecution to show that Casebeer's condition was such as to make it inadvisable for him to appear in court. According to Dr. Dunn's description of the wounds, they are not such as a bloody-handed thug or midnight assassin would be apt to make. The snickersnee or other weapon with which the old man was stabbed was not a very formidable one at the most. Indeed, the wounds are merely such as an ordinary penknife (a small one at that) would make.

CASEBEER'S WOUNDS.

All the witnesses being sworn in at once and excluded from the courtroom until called one after the other to testify, W. A. Shinn, Esq., special counsel for the prosecution, stated to the court that owing to Mr. Casebeer's feeble condition, the attending physician advised against him coming into court. But in order not to delay the proceedings any further, he suggested that the court, the attorneys and court reporter adjourn to Mr. Casebeer's room and take his deposition.

This proposal brought forth an emphatic protest from W. J. Hunsaker, Esq., counsel for the defense. He said that owing to beculiar circumstances of this case, which would become obvious during the course of the proceedings, the defense would insist upon proceedings, the defense would insist upon proceedings, the defense would insist upon proceedings, the course of the proceedings in the regular manner.

Mr. Shinn then called Dr. Dunn to the witness stand in order to enlighten the court as to Casebeer's condition. The witness stated that Casebeer was suffering from nervous tention, and severe pains caused by knife wounds in the chest. There were four of these, three on the left side and one on the right. The most serious one was between the fifth and sixth ribs, about two inches from the left nipple. The doctor had not probed it, but he thought it penetrated the left lung. The wound was only about a quarter of an inch long. It had not bled much, and so far as observable there was no internal hemorrhage. The other three wounds were less serious and the doctor did not describe them minutely.

On cross-examination, witness admitted that the patient was removed from Mr. Foster's house on Mimosa street to the Marguerite House, on North Spring street, a distance of about three miles, without any apparentent serious result. However the trip did not do the patient any good, and his condition was a little worse than three days ago. The doctor could not say posi CASEBEER'S AMANUENSIS. Miss Alice M. Carter, a stylishly-attired young woman from Santa Barbara, was called. She testified that she was 20 young woman from Santa Barbara, was called. She testified that she was 20 years old and a dressmaker by occupation. She had known J. W. Casebeer all her life. On October 8, 1897, she wrote a letter for him to I. B. Williams, notifying the latter and bis wife of Casebeer's intended visit to Los Angeles on the following day to try to effect a settlement of the financial and family troubles existing between them. She made a copy of the letter for Casebeer and handed him both the original and the copy. Since that time she had not seen either, but remembered most of the contents, in substance.

At this point Mr. Shinn tried to execute a flank movement by demanding of Mr. Hunsaker whether the defense had the original letter in question, and if so would he kindly produce it. Mr. Hunsaker declined to answer the question, but acknowledged that Shinn had served formal notive on him to produce it. He did not feel obliged to do so, however, and the court sustained him in his position.

Mr. Shinn then asked the witness to

Mr. Shinn then asked the witness to repeat the substance of the letter, as she remembered it. To this Mr. Hunsaker objected on the ground that no foundation had been laid to prove that the defendant had ever received such a letter. Besides, if a copy was made for the complaining witness, that would be better evidence than an off-hand statement from memory of the hand statement from memory of the person who wrote it.

It developed during the sparring over this point that Casebeer gave his copy of the letter to Editor Lloyd of the Santa Barbara Independent, who published it in part and failed to return the manuscript. Miss Carter was finally allowed to tell what she remembered about the contents of the letter, the salient feature of which was notice that he would call to see "Ben and Kit" (Mr. and Mrs. Williams) at their home at No. 1538 Rockwood street, this city, on the evening of October 9, to effect a settlement and that he would come peacefully and bring no weapons.

Miss Carter then related her trip to Los Angeles from Santa Barbara with Mr. Casebeer, the day after the writing of the letter. On the way down he gave her $340 to keep for him. They were met at the Arcade Depot about 8 o'clock, by her aunt, Mrs. Griggs, and Miss Griggs. They all accompanied Casebeer up town as far as Spring street, where they ponted out a hack to him to take him to Williams's house on Rockwood street. She went home with her aunt, and did not see Casebeer again till the next day, when she visited him in the Receiving Hospital, where he was suffering from the effects of a severe beating. Before returning to her home at Santa Barbara, she turned Casebeer's money over to the police detectives and took a receipt for it. CASEBEER SHOWS UP.

Miss Carter was still under crossterious clubbing and stabbing came into court, assisted by his physician and one other able-bodied man. Miss Carter was immediately excused and the decrepit complaining witness was put on the stand in her place.

Casebeer said he was nearly 70 years old. In a voice so low that the court, attorneys and reporters had to draw their chairs close around him in order to hear a word of his testimony, he then proceeded to relate the circumstances of the assault, prefacing it with a repetition of Miss Carter's testimony anent the letter and the trip down from Santa Barbara. After leaving his female escort, he said, he chartered A. Lindley's hack to take him to No. 1536 Rockwood street. After dismissing the hack he approached the door, but before he could ring Williams opened the door and stepped out. After mutual salutations, Casebeer said he had come to make a settlement. Williams replied that he did not care what he came for, and entered the house, closing the door after him.

After hesitating a few minutes, Case-

After hesitating a few minutes, Case ASSAULTED WITH CLUBS.

Casebeer, continuing, said Williams and his companion then disappeared in the dark at the rear of the house. He started to leave then, intending to make his way to First street to catch a car going down town. He had not proceeded far before he saw Williams and the other man coming toward him, pointing sticks as though they were alming guns at him. He hastily crossed the street to avoid them, and struck across lots, but found an oil slough in his course, and had to turn back. After floundering around for some time, he came out on an open street. Here one of his pursuers stepped out of the shade of a tree in front of him. The other was behind him, butting off retreat in that direction. They attacked him with bludgeons and Williams threw something heavy at him. Casebeer got close to the tree and tried to defend himself with his cane. Seeing he was getting the worst of it, he started to run up a steep hill toward another tree. While running, he was struck on the head with something heavy, and that was the last he knew until he recovered consciousness in the Receiving Hospital next day, having been found where he fell in the street by the police early Sunday morning. Casebeer said Williams had on a woman's dress over his trousers, and wore a veil over his hat and face. Notwithstanding this disguise he was positive of his identification, as he recognized him both by his voice and features, which the veil did not entirely conceal in the bright moonlight.

Clasebeer's letter to Williams and Casebeer, continuing, said William

OLD SORES REOPENED.

OLD SORES REOPENED.

Casebeer's letter to Williams and wife, as published in the Santa Barbara Independent, was submitted in evidence with the consent of the defense, and Mr. Hunsaker then started on a very rigid cross-examination of the complaining witness, the object being to show that Casebeer had made repeated threats against Williams and wife, in consequence of the judgment which they got against the old man for malicious prosecution and defamanawhich they got against the old man for malicious prosecution and defamanation of character. Casebeer had in the first place caused the arrest of Williams and wife on the charge of grand larceny, alleging that they had stolen some deeds and other valuable papers belonging to him. The Williamses were discharged on preliminary examination, and they then sued the old man for damages, securing judgment against him in the Superior Court of Santa him in the Superior Court of Santa him in the Superior Court of Santa sanxious to secure a compromise. He has since appealed to the Supreme Court for a revision of the case.

THE OLD MAN'S THREATS.

THE OLD MAN'S THREATS. Mr. Shinn objected to the attempt of the defense to reopen the former case in which Casebeer and the Williamsee were opposed to each other. Mr. Hun-saker contended that it was necessary saker contended that it was necessary and proper to do so in order to get at the merits of this case. He stated that he would show that Casebeer had wowed that he would stop at nothing to avoid payment of the judgment against him. and that the old man had threatened to lay the murder of Hugh McIntyre in San Diego county at Williams's door. He would also show that Casebeer had told his son Bruce that he would shoot the entrails out of Williams and put Mrs. Williams behind the bars if they would not settle on his terms.

The court decided to allow the defense considerable latitude on cross-examination, despite the prosecution's objections. Mr. Hunsaker accordingly began to press Casebeer pretty hard concerning his former statements and alleged threats. Casebeer denied that he threatened to shoot Williams, but admitted that he would put both "Ben and Kit" behind the bars if he could under the law. His son Bruce had reproved him sharply for threatening to put his sister behind the bars.

Hunsaker read extracts from Casebeer's testimony at the preliminary examination of the Williamses for grand larceny, and asked witness how he reconciled his statements now with his testimony then. He also questioned him sharply as to the language used by him in the letter that was published in the Santa Barbara Independent.

Attempts to confuse the venerable witness did not succeed very well. The

JUDGE VARIEL TALKS.

THE NEW CITY CHARTER.

Mayor Will Make That Official Directly Responsible to the People for His Actions in Ap-

At Grace Methodist Episcopal Church last night Judge R. H. F. Variel, a member of the board of freeholders, addressed an audience on the advantages of the proposed new charter. Judge Variel has a speech formulated which he is delivering to people in va-rious parts of the city. He spoke un-der the auspices of the Union Reform League night before last.

League night before last.

He introduced his remarks by saying that if the charter had any defects it was owing entirely to the inability of his colleagues on the board to comprehensively consider everything in the short time alloted to them by the law, only pincy days. Anyway, it seemed only ninety days. Anyway, it seemed impossible, he added, to frame an in-strument of the kind which should be acceptable to all people. The idea was o accomplish something which would be a benefit to the greatest number, and yet be broad, comprehensive and and yet be broad, comprehensive and conservative.

"The charter comprises thirty-seven articles," Judge Variel said, "and 406 separate sections, being a much more extensive document than the present charter. Under its provisions the first municipal election will occur in December, 1899, and succeeding elections every four years thereafter. This would bring the city election on an odd year, removing it from the State, national and county election influences, which are partisan in character. It is believed better results will follow if city officials are given a longer term of office. That plan has worked well elsewhere. It reduces the public expense and the disturbance of affairs generally.

"The new charter transfers the majority of power from the Council to the Mayor. It makes the offices of City Attorney, City Engineer and Superintendent of Streets appointive by him. They will then be responsible to the Mayor direct instead of, as at present, to the convention of the party which nominated them.

"I do not believe that because a man has been elected to office he is a scoundrel. The position of Mayor will be a more honorable one than ever before. He will be responsible for his actions to the people. The trouble with Councilmen is that fealty to the interests of their wards compels them to avoid responsibility, and they shift to one another the responsibility of all their acts. When the people will realize the importance of the duties of the Mayor they will put up better men. By concentrating the power you will make your individual votes tell better than if scattered through fifteen or more officials, whose pitimate division of responsibility and public acts you cannot foretell.

"The principal of the initiative and

The Council may also, and so may the Mayor, submit an alternative ordinance to be voted on. It is also quite applicable so as to compel the question as to whether the city is concluded. Deputy Sheriff Con Mallory has been investigating last Tuesday night's stabbing. He will not say what his research has resulted in, but he wears an air of confidence that betokens that he has a few cards up his sleeve that will go a long way to help out the prosecution. In fact, Mallory intimated yesterday that he had fathoned the mystery of the stabbing, and is ready to report when the proper time comes.

and issue bonds for the same, to be submitted to a vote of the people.

"The pasks, fire, health, building and library departments will practically be removed from partisan and political influences. An increased number of policemen is provided for. The number of saloon permits which the board may issue is limited to 200, until the city shall have increased to over 200,000 population. Enlarged powers are also given to the board and the Chief in many other important particulars, which will be conducive to the public safety and benefit, while at the same time there will be much less opportunity for what is usually described as 'doing politics."

"The greatest and most valuable changes have been made in the school department. The present arbitrary power which the members of the Board of Education may exercise over the teachers, and which has too often been exercised from unworthy motives and for unholy purposes, will no longer exist, but the board, composed of only five men, will have the power, with the concurrence of the superintendent, who is vested with greater powers than heretofore, to remove teachers for reasonable causes only.

"The appointment of all deputies and employes in the various departments and offices will be according to civil service rules. This feature has for its avowed purpose the obtaining of the very best public service, based on individual merit, at a fair compensation, without the aid of ordinary political or partisan methods."

vice-consul, Dr. Gregorio del Amo, abroad, shortly prior to the opening of the Spanish-American war.

A few weeks ago Urquiza left for Spain to dispose of property there and obtain money with which to pay his debts, rejecting the advice of an attorney to go through insolvency. Some of his creditors were disturbed by his departure and reported that he had absconded. His friends and some creitors say he will return and pay his debts. Yesterday B. Sesma obtained judgment in Justice Morrison's court for 3334.10 against Urquiza and his sisterin-law, Rita de Celis. The judgment was on account of an unpaid laundry account. No defense was put in. Urquiza came to Los Angeles thirteen or fourteen years ago. He was a teacher of languages and for a while was one of the foremost members of the Spanish colony. He married into the De Celis family.

If your ill-feelins don't give way to medicines, try leaving off coffee a while. You may be one of that great army of active, bright, highly organized Americans that coffee acts upon as a slow, sure and persistent poison, that first effects stomach and heart, then liver, bowels, nerves, weak eyes, etc., etc., finally drifting into paralysis, cancer of stomach, heart disease, or some kindred evil.

Some people seem to drink coffee and whisky without ill-effects, but when a man or woman finds that inciplent disease persists in hanging about them, it seems a part of wisdom to look to the cause. Thousands of brainy Americans have found that cause right in their beloved and unsuspecting coffee cup.

A trial of ten days to a month without coffee, but with Potsum Food Coffee (properly made) in its place will tell the tale, and if you find your troubles gone, your eye bright and step elastic, with a feeling of energy sufficient to do your daily work and enjoy life, you may be sure you have spotted the worm that has been "hidden under the bark."

Come along, now, and take an inventory of yourself. See if we can't quit being sick cranks, and put our machinery in shape so we can do something in this busy world.

COST OF THE ISSUE. "In preparing, advertising and issuing the popular loan of $200,000,000 subscribed for last summer the Treasury Department has expended already more than $200,-000," says the Philadelphia Record, "and the total expense account is expected to reach nearly to the limits of the $500,000 authorized by Congress to be devoted to the purpose. Even with this large outlay the Treasury officials declare that the loan is the cheapest, ever floated—that is, if no account be taken of the premium which the bonds would have brought if offered origi-nally in the financial markets to the highest bidder."

NATIONAL BANKS' POSITION.
Since 1893 the total capital of all the national banks has been reduced by about $65,000,000. In the same period the deposits have increased $600,000,000 as compared with the blunt times of 1892, just before the panic. The banks are said to have written off a great deal of bad paper at the expense of the undivided profits, which are rather low. A good many banks have consolidated, thus reducing expenses and strengthening the position of the resultant concerns. The general position is the best the banks in this system have ever occupied. tem have ever occupied.

The increase in the six years is marked, particularly so for last year, when the increase was almost 20 per cent, over the previous year. But the gross cost was a great deal less, in spite of larger business. This, no doubt, had much to do with the increase in importations. The much higher cost of tea this year is pretty sure to result in a larger use of coffee, the one being cheaper than at any previous time, and the other dearer than for years. The cost of the beverage to the people of the country for the six years is over $80,000,000 per annum. Heretofore this has all gone to foreigners. Shares and Money.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS MIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The stock market has recently emancipated itself in a large degree from the influence of Sugar, Tobacco and like uncertain quantities, but the violent gyrations Sugar in today's market could not but have a rather unsettling effect. Quotations were almost lost at the Sugar post at the opening, and were recorded all the way from 125 down to 124. Before noon the price was quoted at 119, and again before the close it went back to 124. The early decline was based on the fall in the loaning rate, which was taken to indicate the conclusion of the squeeze against the shorts, and the subsequent recovery came with the announcement of the advance in the price of the product by the companies alleged to be engaged in a trade war of extermination. The enormous volume of transactions in this specialty gave it necessarily some sympathetic influence on the general list. The opening quotation for Atchison preferred also ran all the way from 41 to 424, with simultaneous sales of $500 shares. The high price proved too much to sustain, and it ran off in the first hour, carrying the whole reilroad list with it. Atchison preferred more than recovered later in the day. The adjustment bonds were also in heavy demand, and rose at one time 13s, but the rairoad list generally showed a tendency to drag, and recent leaders were sustained at a level above Saturday's market with difficulty, in spite of the additional advantage of some very striking gains in-usually inactive stocks. Finding the difficulty of moving the recent leaders, speculation showed a tendency to the additional advantage of some very striking gains in-usually inactive stocks. Finding the difficulty of moving the recent leaders, speculation showed and stendency to turn in the lower-priced stocks.

The Grangers and the Pacifics and the iron and steel stocks showed an increasing heaviness as the day progressed, and home fell below Saturday's close, while none of them showed net gains of Grain and Produce.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Operfing trades in wheat showed an advance of about ½c for both December and May. These prices prevailed for some time. Nearly 200,000 bushels of wheat was taken here for export late Saturday, and an additional 40,000 bushels was reported sold early today for the same purpose. The fact that the contract stocks here were less than 700,000 bushels made local shorts, especially in December, rather anxious, and trading, which for some time has been exceedingly dull, became very active in consequence. To add to the uneasiness there was continued talk to the effect that December wheat had been considerably oversold at the seaboard, with rumors of a possible squeeze. Laverpool was strong, and up ¼61¼d, and this had some effect on trading, but not so much as it would had it not been that Laverpool was almost alone in the foreign strength. The visible in crease was 2.184,000 tablels, and this was a factor in the reaction that took place after the final hour's trading. There was a good deal of realising on wheat, owing to the profits, and holders of calls sold against them. This relieved the pressure, May and December easing off to $6%. The latter month was too much in demand for any permanent downward movement, however. Renewed buying by anxious shorts soon started the price toward a higher level, and for a time December of prices, and closed with but little change. Oats were firm at a little over saturday's figures. Cash demand was good. Provisions were dull and heavy. Both cash and speculative demands were limited, and as there was some selling pressure, chiefly and speculative demands were limited, and as there was some selling pressure, chiefly mas so lower. London Financial Market

London Financial Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Evening Post's London financial cablegram says. "The stock markets here were generally good today, except foreigners and mines, which were dulin sympathy with Paris. Americans were strong, closing at about the best. The speculative interest in Americans undoubtedly increased, reports from the United States as to favorable trade prospects being fully believed here. There were also further buying orders for Americans from Germany. The monetary situation in Germany still jequires careful watching. The next foru jaht promises to be a test of the financial situation in Germany, as an unusually large amount of German bonds will mature here within that period. The failure of a small banking firm was announced today from Bremen."

Judge C. J. Willett presided over the meeting. President Edwards of Throop Polytechnic Institute explained the nature of the movement. It is an attempt, he said, to extend the advantages of university training in some degree to those unable to go through college; to transfer the agencies of a liberal education from the classrobm to the tecture hall of the local center. The local center will arrange for two or three courses of lectures, six lectures in a course, coming once a week. Each evening will be divided into two parts:

them. Their intellectual acumen, their desire to know causes and laws, are greater than characterized our childhood. It is not a question whether there are enough truth-seekers in this community to make it worth while to enter upon this enterprise. The question is, how much can we do to satisfy this ardent intellectual thirst that exists among those unable to go to the universities. We should do all we can to store these inquiring minds with the great and the true," said Mr. Jones, "and give our hearty support to an enterprise like this."

with the great and the true," said Mr. Jones, "and give our hearty support to an enterprise like this."

Prof. R. E. Hieronymus described the plan of campaign, so far as projected for Southern California. It will be vested in a board of compaign, so far as projected for Southern California. It will be vested in a board of control chosen from the six leading educational institutions of this section. The lecturers will be taken from these institutions, and from any liberally-educated specialists in the communities who have a fitness for the work. Eminent educators also from the East will come here to assist. Each local center will raise its own fund for the local work, and the professor thought that Pasadena, where the present movement had its inception, should start the first local center.

Then, on motion of Dr. George S. Hull, the chair appointed a committee of five to organize a local center, as follows: Dr. Hull, Prof. Hieronymus, A. C. Vroman, Drs. Deacon and Abbott. The committee retired, while Mrs. Jennie Coleman held the close attention of the audience with a brief address upon "Woman in University Extension." She pointed out that woman would be the gainer especially, because her every-day life must be one of detail, in danger of becoming narrow and soroid, and she needs this higher education to lift her out of herself, to broaden and freshen her life. Again, the said, its influence on her growing children would be most valuable, keeping their thoughts in a helpful atmosphere as they listened to or joined in the conversation which this higher education would stimulate in homes.

Rov. H. W. Lathe spoke of the affinity between the church and this movement. Songs were sung, by the Tabernacle Quartette and firshelpe between the church and the movement. LAKE VINEYARD WATER COMPANY.

A meeting of the directors of the Pasadena and Lake Vineyard Water Company was held this evening, at which the regular routine business was transacted. The proposition of the San Pasqual Water Company to furnish water from the Chapman ranch was discussed, but all action was postponed.

There was an informal discussion of the relations between this company and the representatives of the municipal ownership compaign. The sentiment generally expressed was that the world be wise to condition or friction with the people, and that if the city should be a position to make a definite and fair offer for the company's property, the directors would be disposed to give it amicable consideration.

Peter Johnson, an old Norwegian, was arrested for begging tonight, after having scared several servant girls. The officers found 30 cents in his pocket, but he acknowledged that he had been asking for food.

St. Clair and Depew, the two alleged burglars, who were arrested at San Bernardine for robbing a jewelry store in this city, will be arraigned before Judga Rossiter Tuesday afternoon. Little evidence against them has yet been secured. They have retained F. W. Allender of Los Angeles as their counsel. DON'T RUSH TO HAWAII.

DON'T RUSH TO HAWAII.

Capt. George C. Lees of this city has received advices from his son in Honofulu. He says the very limited area of the country affords less opportunity than may be had in a larger field; there is little or no land ready for occupancy for any considerable number of newcomers. "Don't come here without experience or capital: nearly all lines of business are well represented; there are more applications for cierical positions than openings; the cost of living is about one-third more in Hawaii than in the Unted States; it is true that a desirable chance presents itself to the right man here, as elsewhere, and if you wish to try Hawaii, come amply provided for your needs, and with money enough to buy a return ticket."

The real estate market shows it, the purchases of stocks by merchants is another indication, and heavy planting by farmers shows that they believe next season will be profitable. Real estate men are complaining that the average property-holder is trying the old boomtime tactics of siapping on an outrageous price as soon as investors appear. This is undoubtedly true in the case of a few old siturians, but as a general rule the people of this region received a bitter lesson that they will not soon forget. The average property-holder will no doubt prove reasonable when bona fide offers are made. All through the back country farmers are getting in their hay crops, especially on adobe lands, where the seed may be sown on dry land, to lie dormant until the rains. The belief is general that there will be heavy rains. The past was the third successive dry winter, and if the coming winter proves dry too, the agricultural portion of the population may as well shut up shop. Unfortunately the farmer cannot wait to verify his predictions, but must either sow with faith or withhold his seed and lose the chance of profit.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 14.—[Regular Correspondence.] Mrs. Herbert Carter, wife of the man who Hancock alleges was a member of his gang of thieves which operated at El Modena about three years ago, has appeared on the scenes. Ana two years ago, when she worked in the laundry and supported him. Carter used to beat her frequently, and abused her so much that the neighbors in the section of town where they lived informed him if he did not stop it they would tar and feather him. They made it so hot for him that he soon afterward left the country, and has not since been heard from.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter were married in Riverside on February 9, 1896, by Justice of the Peace James Mills. Mrs. Carter says she and her husband did live at El Modena for a while, and she knew Hancock and the woman who lived with him as his wife, but did not know they were not married. She says Hancock and the woman told her they had a lot of chickens to move from the place where they had been living, but that they always brought only a few at a time, and when she asked them why they did not bring tiem all at once, they told her they could not carry but a pen of them at a time in their buggy.

Mrs. Carter is known as a respectable woman since her residence in Santa Ans.

What the Nicaragua Canal Will Bring—Personals.

HOTEL DEL CORONADO, Nov. 14.—[Regular Correspondence.] "There is one benefit to be derived by this section by the building of the Nicaragua Canal that I have not heard mentioned yet," said a guest of the hotel this morning. "That is in the matter of bringing the Atlantic coast nearer to San Dlego. I know most of the pople owning steam yachts on the Atlantic—I own one myself, in fact. Now I would like nothing better than to bring my yacht around here, to enjoy a cruise along this coast, to the islands and alongshore. But it is quite out of the question at present. I do not care to risk my yacht around Capt Horn, or through the Straits, even setting aside the interminable time that would be required to reach here. With the canal cut through I would at once make the trip for the novelty and pleasure to be found in it. That is the view taken by my friends. The chances are that the first summer after the canal is built would see at least a dozen of the finest yachts on the Atlantic seeking these shores.

"Every winter most of these yachts cruise down along the Atlantic coast as far as the West Indies. What would be easier than a little run through the canal and up the Mexican coast, with its many unexplored and novel points of interest? It would be an ideal cruise. Them, arriving here, with this balmy winter climate and the social and civilized advantages of Coronado, meeting the many acquaintances who come out here every winter—it would be a pleasure spot unrivaled in the world. It was the opinion of the members of the Board of Health and of Health Officer Dr. Powers, that if the first case had been reported, steps would have been taken which would have prevented the spread of the disease, and that consequently the physician for whom the warrant is to be issued is directly responsible for the sickness of a number of young men.

Health Officer Powers places no blame on the school, having found no reason to believe that the sickness of the young men was due to the unsanitary condition of the building or of the neglect of the managers, who readily complied with the request of the Health Officer that the school be closed temporarily.

neglect of the managers, who readily complied with the request of the Health Officer that the school be closed temporarily.

Dr. Powers also presented a report on the condition of many of the public school buildings, a number of which he declared to have defective plumbing, etc., while others have poor lighting facilities. The report was of considerable length, entering into the details of the improvements recommended. He stated, however, that the condition was considerably improved since his last inspection of the buildings. Many of the most pronounced defects in the schools are in the outlying districts and had their origin in work done before the districts were admitted into the city.

A complaint was made at the meet-ing of the board of directors of the Merchants' and Manufacturera' Association held last evening that many people in the business section of the city are in the habit of dumping garbage and offal on vacant lots, thereby leopardizing the health of adjacent residents. The secretary was instructed to call the attention of the Health offer to the matter and to request him to call the attention of the Health Officer to the matter and to request him to use his power to have the nuisance stopped and the guilty parties arrested. In view of the prevalence of diphtheria and typhold fever, it was deemed necessary that immediate steps be taken to prevent the spread of disease through the unsanitary condition of certain parts of the resident portion.

Several of the retail merchants presented a request that the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association take charge of all appeals for charity that are being made to the merchants, and that the association be made the cus-todian of a special fund to be con-tributed for that purpose by the mer-chants. The business men complain chants: The business men complain that they receive as many as twenty calls a day from people solicting aid for charitable institutions, and in order to save annoyance and much time they desire the association to act for them and to distribute funds in worthy them and to distribute funds in worthy cases. The president appointed the following committee to investigate the subject: M. Hamburger, James Montgomery, and N. B. Blackstone.

In order to bring the workings of the association more thoroughly to the notice of its members and to give the latter an opportunity to suggest and discuss matters of importance to the commercial community, as well as public improvements, the idea was suggested to issue a monthly bulletin congressed to issue a monthly bulletin congested to issue a monthly bulletin con taining articles contributed by mer chants, a synopsis of the work don and proposed by the association, to gether with a list of the members each mether with a list of the members each month. A committee of Directors Marshutz and Herron and Secretary Zeenhandelaar was appointed to prepare a plan for the publication of the bulletin, with instructions to report at a special meeting of the board of directors to be called for that purpose. The Alcatraz Asphalt Paving Company was elected to membership.

Miss Genevieve Reardon, daughter of Mrs. Mary Reardon of No. 236 North Flower street, and Daniel Francis Mc-Garry were married yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock at the Cathedral on the corner of Second and Main streets Father Michael McAuliffe officiated The wedding was largely attended by relatives and friends of the two families. The church was handsomely decorated to do honor to the happy event. The altar was decorated with ropes of smilax, potted palms and plants, papyrus and white chrysanthemums, the colors being white and green. The bride was accompanied to the altar by her brother, John Reardon, who gave her away; her sister, Miss Nell Reardon, who acted as bridesmaid, and Richard Dillon, who assisted as best man. The bridal party entered the cathedral to the strains of Lohengrin's "Bridal Chorus." During the ceremony Miss Elizabeth Brandt and Mrs. Scott Chapman sang, and at the conclusion Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was rendered. Prof. Stamm presided at the organ. The bride wore a handsome tailor-made gown of national blue broadcloth. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was colors being white and green. The ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride. Covers were laid for twenty-four, including Mr. and Mrs. D. F. McGarry, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. McGarry, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Father McAuliffe, Father Maloney, Father Clifford, Misses Reardon, Mamie Reardon, Brandt, Fraisher, Mary McGarry, Annie McGarry, Messrs. Richard Dillon, Fred Reardon, James Reardon, John Reardon, Jim Knealy and Dr. John McGarry. The bride received her guests in the parlor, which was artistically decorated with ropes of smilax, reaching from the four corners of the room to the chandelier, and she stood under a floral bell of white and green hung in the archway between the parlor and reception-room. The dining-room was exquisitely decorated with ropes of smilax, white carnations and bride roses, which were artistically arranged about the room and tables. Mr. and Mrs. McGarry left on the 10:20 o'clock train for San Francisco, where they will remain two weeks. They will be at home to their friends after January 1 at No. 1653 East Ninth street. The bride's presents were handsome and numerous.

Governor-elect and Mrs. Henry T. Gage were guests of honor at a dinner Saturday evening, given by Dr. and Mrs. Carl Kurtz in their apartments in the Baker Block. The table decorations consisted of long-stemmed La France roses arranged in tall cut-glass vases. A silver candelabra, shaded with pink, occupied a place in the center of the table. White, feathery chrysanthemums were arranged about the rooms with artistic effect. In the evening Mr. Gage attended the recepion at the Columbia Club, returning later, where he spent a most delightful evening. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Horton, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Davis, Miss Arcadia Scott, John Peck, Judge C. C. Carpenter, Dr. Walter Lindley.

Ben-Bey's Ben=Yan lis the Most Remarkable Discovery of this or any Preceding Age

After using this wonderful remedy and testing its merits on more than 10,000 men in California and surrounding States, BEN-YAN is now offered for sale the first time. Its merits were known years ago, but BEN-BEY determined not to place it on the market until it had been thoroughly tested and its wonderful power demonstrated.

This great remedy was discovered by BEN-BEY while solourning in the Sandwich Islands, and was suggested by the wierd story of a Kanaka.

This is the only remedy known to science which will develop weak and undersized organs.

Its action on the nerve centers positively and forever cures nervous debility of every name, form and nature.

Rythalize the circulation and nerves: strengthen debilitated and weakened.

nervous debility of every name, form and nature.

BEN-YAN will vitalize the circulation and nerves; strengthen debilitated and weakened organs—develop, enlarge and restore them, and thus make a new existence. It also cures leucorthoea and all forms of female weakness.
